FREDERICK, Md. — About 400 people turned out for the Maryland Holstein Association's annual banquet March 21 to celebrate another year of progress. The gathering took place at the Lynfield Event Complex near Thurmont.

Many youth and adults were honored for their achievements with Holsteins in 2002.

Charles and Anne Lethbridge of Chan-Lee Holsteins, Carroll County, took home the Maryland 2002 Outstanding Senior Maryland Holstein Breeder Award.

The Lethbridges began dairying in 1966, after purchasing a farm in the Union Bridge area.

Originally made up of grade animals, the Chan-Lee herd became 100 percent registered a number of years ago. Years of a registered breeding program produced an outstanding cow family, including Chan-Lee Aerostar Glare, who was three times classified ·Excellent-91. One of her high quality daughters was a top seller at the 1997 Maryland Convention Sale. Chan-Lee Duster Glenna went on to score EX-90 and become a high producer for Conant Acres in Maine.

Ariz. Dairy Makes Heat Stress Management A (Cool) Breeze

ANDY ANDREWS

GRANTVILLE (Dauphin Co.) — What can dairy producers in any of the green and lush valleys of Pennsylvania learn from a guy making milk in the harsh desert of Arizona?

How about keeping cows cool, for starters.

About 200 dairy producers and agri-industry representatives learned a variety of ways one dairy producer in the dry heat of the desert is able to stave off heat-related herd health problems Tuesday during the first of a two-day Maximizing Opportunities Conference during the Professional Dairy Managers of Pennsylvania (PDMP) meeting at the Holiday Inn in Grantville.

Tom Thompson, operator of Stotz Dairy, Buckeye, Ariz., manages 6,400 cattle (milking herd size of 3,676) and 43 employees. Thompson also custom-farms more than 2,400 acres of alfalfa and 900 acres of double-cropped corn silage.

While providing an in-depth review of all aspects of Stotz Dairy, Thompson was careful to focus on the greatest challenge the cows face: the Arizona desert, which can be deadly.

"Cows are built for 65-degree weather," he told those at the conference. Last summer, "we measured, in the shade, 125 degrees."

For 90 days straight, the high

Paul Neer leads Carmell Linjet Sunshine out of the barn for Lancaster County visitors to see during a Holstein Club tour to the Belleville area this week. Sunshine, classified EX-93 as a 5-year-old, was one of many superb cows the group had a chance to view during the tour to six farms. See full story on page A21. Photo by Dave Lefever

Livestock Evaluation Center Almost Complete

Facility May Be Named Samuel E. Hayes, Jr. Livestock Meat Animal Evaluation Center

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture (PDA) is nearing completion of a new, world-class Livestock Evaluation Center (LEC).

To better serve the beef, sheep, and swine breeders of Pennsylvania and America, this new $6.4 million center will provide the necessary facilities to test for superior genetic traits.

The complex is 10 times larger than the current facility operated by the PDA.

A meeting of the Senate Agriculture and Rural Affairs committee on Monday, March 24, was slated to address designating the new center as the Samuel E. Hayes, Jr., Livestock Meat Animal Evaluation Center, as put forth in Senate Bill 340.

"The new facility is roughly 80 percent complete," said Glenn Eberly, Livestock Evaluation Center director. "The hog barn is relatively completed and we already have boars and gilts there."

"Many of the livestock producers are justly very excited about all the possibilities," Eberly said. "I think that there will be great deal of interest in using this new facility for meetings, conferences and educational programs."

"We tried to design and build a facility with a great deal of flexibility and utility to it," said Eberly.

"There will be a very nice conference/ classroom, the food prep area could be used to serve a large group of people, and there will be a large area that could accommodate a large trade show."

New features also include an assembly hall, exhibit area, dormitory room, manure management factilities, bunker silos, auction capability, and seating for 700.

The new Livestock Evaluation Center is more than 178,000 square feet.

"There is also a huge potential to use this world-class facility for meaningful research to benefit the livestock industries," said Eberly.

"The beef industry stands to gain a great deal from this expansion."

Each of the five pens under roof cover a concreted area 30 feet by 100 feet, "which is rough-

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Lancaster Farming was the recipient of two awards from the 2003 Nor'Easterner Contest sponsored by the NorthEast Farm Communicators Association.

For a team effort, Lancaster Farming was honored with the Best One-Time Project Award for the National Holstein Convention Daily Newspaper. In addition, Michelle Kunjappu, staff writer, was honored with the Best Photo/Image Award.

The one-time project award involved, for the first time in Lancaster Farming's history, publishing a four-color daily newspaper covering the events at the National Holstein Convention in Atlantic City, N.J., June 24-27, 2002. The newspaper was distributed exclusively to those who attended the annual convention.

The entire newspaper staff was involved, including Editor Andy Andrews; Lou Ann Good, food and family features editor; Michelle Kunjappu, staff writer; and Dave Lefever, staff writer.

The Northeast Farm Communicators Association awarded certificates of excellence to participants in the Nor'Easterner

Compared to Tuesday, slaughter steers sold firm to 50 higher What a difference a week makes as there was an outstanding supply of high quality, well finished cattle on hand Needless-to-say, the ringmen had to knock the dust off of the bell early in the sale Bidding was active, with buyers excited to have the opportunity to put some fancy stock on their trucks, as it has been a while since we have seen a heavy supply of the good kind Don't get me wrong, we have had some nice steers over the past couple months, but not in the quantity noted in Thursday's run Keep in mind, there were only around 340 head of steers in the combined Monday and Tuesday run So when comparing prices and demand, it is important to note that the demand was extremely good late in the week, and bids may have been even more aggressive had there not been the large numbers in the books A continued good supply of slaughter Holstein steers sold firm to 50 higher in active trading There were not enough slaughter heifers for a market test Slaughter cows sold steady to firm on a very good run Buyer attendance and demand were both good There were not enough slaughter bulls on Tuesday to compare to, however, when compared to Monday bulls sold steady to 1 00 lower The reported supply included 41 percent steers (609 head), 3 percent heifers (54 head), 38 percent cows (557 head), 7 percent bulls (105 head), with the balance feeder cattle

New Holland Feeder Pig Auction

NEW HOLLAND, PA
March 26, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

Receipts 224 Last Week· 411 Year Ago. 578.

Compared to last week, slaughter pigs weighing under 30 lbs sold 15.00-25.00 lower; with slaughter pigs weighing over 30 lbs trading sharply higher. A fairly good test of 30-40 pounders sold 30.00-40.00 higher Light receipts combined with good buyer demand, lead to active trading on the heavier pigs. There was some light feeder interest, which has not been evident for a while. All pigs were weighed and graded on arrival and sold by the hundred weights.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

MAR. 31–APR. 6, 2003

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME BEGINS, APR 6

ALL FOOLS' DAY

In honor of April 1 we remind you of some very foolish things that have happened within this month Any fool knows that tax day is April 15 but fittingly April is also the month the U S Mint was established in 1792 Alec Guinness was born on April 2 1914 later gaining his fame by publishing every foolish feat that ever gained a record And on April 7 1857 snow fell in every southern state in the United States just to make fools of the weathermen no doubt And finally to cap off the foolishness on April 29 1848 Niagara Falls stopped flowing for 30 hours Now that's foolish!

To be a fool at the right time is also an art.

TIP OF THE WEEK

Add an egg white to whipping cream to make it whip better.

BERRY FOOL

1 cup sugar
1 2 teaspoon nutmeg
8 slices white bread
1 2 cup (1 stick) butter, melted
2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen raspberries
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
ice cream or whipped cream

Blend sugar and nutmeg Brush bread slices with melted butter on both sides, then cut into 1/2 inch strips Line the bottom of a loaf pan with 1/3 of the bread sprinkle with 1/2 of the sugar and nutmeg, then add 1/2 of the raspberries Sprinkle with 1/2 of the lemon juice and rind Begin layering again with 1/3 of the bread ending with bread on the top Bake at 350°F until the juices are bubbly and the bread is crisp on top Serve it with ice cream or whipped cream

Makes 4 to 6 servings

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

In March, the birds begin to search, in April, the corn begins to fill, in May, the birds begin to lay

First three days of April foggy, expect a flood in June

Telmark's philosophy:

Provide reliable and consistent service yesterday, today and tomorrow.

You want your financing with someone you know and trust. Financing based on an ongoing discussion with someone who takes the time to know you and your business. Decisions that are based on a depth of understanding that develops over time ... not during a one-time office appointment.

Your Telmark representative reflects our philosophy to provide reliable and consistent service. You'll get to know your Telmark person, and even better, that person will get to know you. Contact your local Telmark representative today to discuss your current financing needs ... you'll be glad you did.

OPINION

Art Of Listening

We've been to many dairy meetings during the winter. One thing we've seen in common: if you want to survive as a dairy farmer, you have to run your farm as a business. It's a business first, a farm second.

For the older generation, that might not be too much of a problem. Probably the biggest impediment to any kind of success, however, is simply refusing to listen.

For the older generation farmers, that refusal to listen may start in the milking parlor, the tiestall, or at dinnertime. It's especially true when those who have trained to be dairy farmers in college bring ideas home with them about conducting the business, and the parent/owner/operators simply tune any new ideas out.

I think the older generation, time and again, may have to relearn how to do the business by accepting newer practices adopted by the younger. This art of listening can go both ways, too. The younger generation may not only have to ask why things are done the way they are, but learn exactly why they got that way in the first place (without getting the typical response such as "Hey, Grandpa and Dad did it that way, and that's the way it goes.")

Any business has to keep an open ear and a searching mind. Even in the newspaper business, we are looking for ways to improve our production and profitability. We have budgets to adhere to and we have to think up (sometimes ingenious) plans to make ends meet, too.

Families conduct their own life on a business principle.

How else are you supposed to do it?

This newspaper has a lot more special projects and sections to be published this year. Check out the front page of our Website at www.lancasterfarming.com. The farm economy is diversifying, and the family farm is far from what it once was.

We will be announcing several brand-new components of this newspaper in the weeks to come. Watch for them!

To Explore Cheese-Making As An Alternative Income Source

A dairy economist in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences said some dairy farmers in Pennsylvania may have to think outside the milk carton to survive in today's tough market. With milk prices extremely low and feed prices high because of the drought that parched crops last summer, operators of small dairy farms across the state are being squeezed.

Some are looking frantically for new sources of revenue to keep their businesses afloat, and Ken Bailey, associate professor of agricultural economics, has an idea — make cheese.

Not the bland, mass-produced American and mozzarella churned out in places such as Wisconsin, but perhaps an earthy guda, a tangy feta, or an extra-sharp cheddar with a taste specific and peculiar to the region of Pennsylvania where it is made.

Before you scoff at this suggestion, Bailey noted, consider the microbrewery craze that swept across the country and revolutionized the beer-making business in the last 20 years or so. He believes the same thing could happen with cheese. Not long ago, Bailey explained, dominant beer brands such as Budweiser and Miller had the market cornered and there weren't many alternatives. Then small breweries started cropping up all over, making distinctive-tasting fermented beverages in small batches.

To be sure, the microbreweries will never displace beer giants such as Anheuser Busch — but many brands have earned uncommon customer loyalty, and through niche marketing they sell thousands of gallons of beer annually. Bailey believes "artisanal" or "designer" cheeses could have the same sort of market impact, and he said Pennsylvania — being the fourth largest dairy-producing state in the nation with many small herds and dairies — is in an ideal position to be on the cutting edge of the trend. The term "artisanal" comes from the word artisan, or craftsman, and relates to the skill needed to make exceptional cheese.

"I'm not suggesting that we try to compete with Kraft in the cheese business — we couldn't," Bailey said. "But if you look at the cheese industry, it is all moving out West. Immense factories use huge volumes of milk and make low-cost cheese. Only two cheeses in this country are made in great volume, American and mozzarella, with most of the latter going on pizza. Most of the cheese made in the United States is bland and boring. There is a tremendous opportunity for Pennsylvania dairy farmers to make distinctive, aged cheeses."

Dairy producers in other states are investigating this concept, too, according to Bailey, who noted that dairy farmers in Vermont have banded together to create a cheese association, and cheese from several different farms can be purchased on its Website.

"I think there is a market out there for really good farmstead cheese — artisanal cheese made in small batches," he said. "In Eastern Europe, farmers have three or four cows and make cheese at home. They take it to nearby markets to sell and the locals prefer it because the imported brands of cheese are too expensive."

Bailey believes Americans will consume more cheese now that scientists and doctors have realized that eating cheese is healthy.

"Americans are unsophisticated about cheese as compared to the French and other Europeans," he said. "Europeans eat much more cheese and they eat many more varieties. The European consumer is much more discriminating when it comes to cheese. But when the economy improves in this country and Americans' taste for cheese matures, the market will take off."

The question is, Bailey points out, how can small dairy farmers get into the farmstead cheese business? "Farmers must craft cheese in a low-cost way and keep marketing costs low," he said. "Cheese cooperatives and farmers' markets might be the answer."

To Scout Alfalfa Fields That Were Under Slush And Ice This Winter

The recent hard winter weather, for the most part, has been a benefit for agriculture.

Lancaster Agronomy Agent Bob Anderson explains the extreme cold and deep-freezing of the soil will probably have a very beneficial effect on soil structure, which has continued to be more compacted over the past several warm winters. The cold likely will result in reduced insect pest numbers for the next growing season as well.

One negative aspect of the winter weather was that low-lying fields were under water, slush, and ice for extended periods of time. This is a particular problem for alfalfa. Alfalfa needs to continue the respiration process even during cold weather, and those ponds of frozen slush did not allow that to happen. Usually when alfalfa fields have prolonged ice cover, the alfalfa winter survival is low. Check these fields after greenup. You may need to rotate into corn or another crop after first hay cutting.

WHO WOULD JESUS BOMB?

Background Scripture:
Mark 7:1-23.
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 51:10-17.

Valere and I have traveled around the world, visiting churches, synagogues, mosques, temples, and other places of worship. Even among the Christian sites we have visited there is an amazing diversity of architecture, ritual, and practice. It is difficult to imagine that all of these different beliefs, practices, and styles are all part of the same faith. Usually, these divergent factors result from a blend of faith and culture.

There is nothing wrong with this great diversity of beliefs and practices — with two important exceptions. One of these is thinking that our brand of Christianity alone is the "real thing," and the second exception is to forget to distinguish what represents the will of God and what is devised by human mind. These are deadly viruses that can infect the Church, destroying it from within rather than from without.

In Mark 7, Jesus is opposed by the scribes over the washing of hands before eating. The Jews, of course, did not know about bacteria in those days and could not appreciate that this practice was also good physical health measure. In their day it was purely ceremonial and symbolic. The practice in itself was probably a good way of disciplining their Hebrew faith. The problem, however, was that they failed to realize that this practice was not the heart of their faith. So they challenged Jesus, "Why do your disciples not live according to the tradition of the elders, but eat with hands defiled?"

Human Precepts

Jesus' response was based upon a passage from Isaiah 29:13, "This people honors me with their lips, but their heart is far from me; in vain do they worship me, teaching as doctrines the precepts of men" (7:6,7).

What can happen with any practice, belief, or ritual is that we invest it with divine authority when, at best, it represents precepts, human understanding of that authority. This legalistic approach makes it easier, because by keeping the minutia of our faith, we can more easily ignore God's commandments.

The precepts of human beings can easily become a substitute for God's commandments. People are often rather dogmatic about "the right way to worship," giving their method more energy and concern than the reality behind that method. Another example was the Church's response to Galileo, the brilliant 16th century scientist, who demonstrated Copernicus' theory that the earth revolves around the sun, not the reverse. The Inquisition labeled this theory heresy and Galileo had to back down. How many other teachings, rules, and concepts are regarded as orthodox truth, when in fact they are little more than human precepts?

Often we have a choice between the commandments of God and the traditions of men when they conflict with one another. Nowhere is this more prevalent than in how we respond to Jesus' summation of the commandments: "...you shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, soul, mind, and strength." And, "you shall love your neighbor as yourself." (Mk 12:6,7).

Human Exceptions

Never are we more ingeniously creative than when we are busy working out exceptions to this commandment. We rule that neighbors must be worthy of our love, that foreigners cannot be neighbors, that this rule does not apply to enemies. We justify violence and preach an eye-for-an-eye justice, adulterating our Christian witness.

We are at war again. Of all the justification that I see and hear regarding this war, I have heard virtually nothing about the relevance of Christian teaching. Authorities are quoted, but not Jesus Christ, although yesterday I saw this bumper sticker: "Who Would Jesus Bomb?" Good question! Jesus and the good news are about transformation, not obliteration.

As we have suspended some of our civil liberties "for the duration," shall we all also suspend the gospel of Jesus Christ?

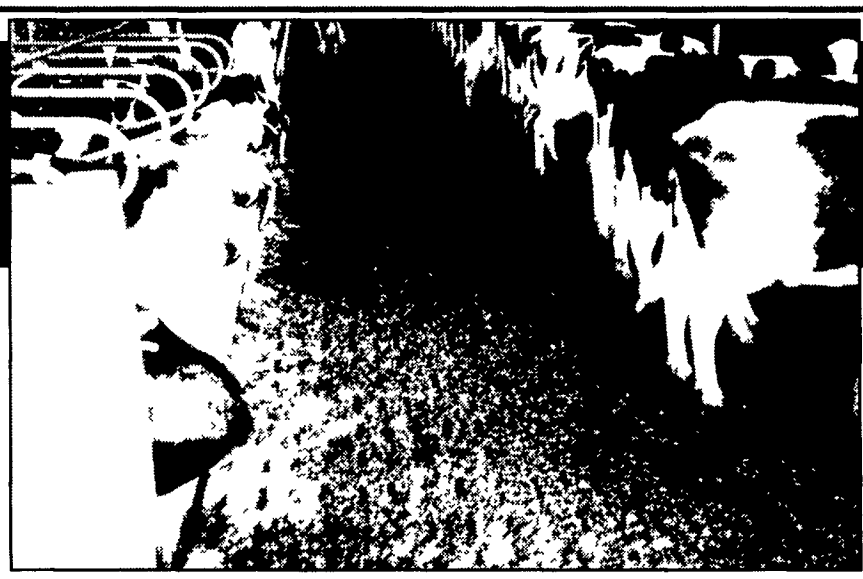
"WAFFLE SLAT" Syri-Con Corporation



"We would use slats again if doing it all over!"

Harold Keeney, David, Nancy & Mark Wolfskill

Our original plan was to install scrapers. But after 10 minutes in a slatted barn in Somerset County, we changed our minds. Some people stay away from slats because of the initial cost, but that extra cost is made up for in the first couple years.

The one thing I like the most about slats is that there is no expense. I don't have any scrapers or drive units to maintain. I don't have to run scrapers every day or haul manure like we did in our previous tie stall barn. The cows' foot health has been a lot better, and the cows stay much cleaner. Our milk production is up and the somatic cell count has gone down. I give at least some of the credit to the slats because with less moisture on the floor, there is less bacteria.

-David Wolfskill

"The answer to the most common question is 'No, there is no build-up.' "

Weekly Dairy Market Outlook

Ken Bailey
Professor of Agricultural Economics, Dairy Marketing and Policy
Penn State

March 21, 2003
MILK PRODUCTION CONTINUES TO EXPAND

- February milk up 1.7 percent.
- California alone added 60,000 head.
- Other states losing cows.

This was the month that growth in cow numbers would level off. Or so I thought. The February milk production report indicated that the number of milk cows for 20 major states grew 3,000 head from January or by 66,000 head from a year ago.

The markets are screaming for less milk, not more, and that's why milk prices continue to fall. The future markets at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange now indicate that the March 2003 Class III price will fall to $9.10 per CWT, well below the support price of $9.80 per CWT. Class III prices are not expected to reach above $10 until June.

In case you haven't gotten the message yet, dairy farmers are producing too much milk from too many cows. The market simply cannot handle the excess production, especially in a soft economy. That is why prices have fallen to such low levels.

To illustrate the imbalance in the market, let's review cow numbers over the past few years. During the period February 2001-2003, the number of dairy cows for 20 major dairy states grew 46,000 head. Cow numbers normally decline month after month. Cow numbers during this period fell in states such as Wisconsin (-45,000), Minnesota (-40,000), and Texas (-27,000). But cow numbers also grew in states such as New Mexico (52,000), Idaho (16,000) and Arizona (10,000).

But none of this compares to the grow in California — up a whopping 118,000 cows! And cow numbers in California are poised to grow even more in the months ahead.

Perhaps a better question to ask is why are cow numbers growing month after month when the market is calling for a cooling-off period? Is it booming real estate values in California? Is the support price of $9.80 per CWT for manufacturing milk too high? Or are we still experiencing residual growth in cow numbers from profits earned from 2001?

Cheese is moving into the USDA's dairy price support program. The Commodity Credit Corporation has confirmed that 1.66 million pounds of Central process cheese, 690.6 thousand pounds of Western barrel cheese, and 342 thousand pounds of Western block cheese have been purchased by the government for the week March 17-21.

The government is purchasing surplus butter, cheese, and nonfat dry milk. For the week ending March 7, 2003, there is 1.086 billion pounds of nonfat dry milk in USDA warehouses. That is more powder than what we normally consume in the entire U.S. during 12 months.

Butter is showing some promise. Despite strong inventory levels, butter is above support levels and averaged $1.0958 per pound this week in Chicago. Demand may be improving for both butter and Class II uses in response to the upcoming Easter Holidays. And USDA reports that butter imports (both in-quota and above quota) are below year-ago levels.

Average Farm Feed Costs for Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania.

Remember, these are averages, so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

Ephrata National Bank
You'll feel the difference.

When we made our first dairy loan, our customers milked their cows by hand and bank deposits were hand recorded in a ledger.

Just as Dairy Farmers have embraced new technology, so has Ephrata National. Just as Dairy Farmers cherish their rural heritage so does Ephrata National. Ephrata National Bank is eager to serve your financial needs.

Do you want:
- Fairly priced loans with no tricky interest rate calculations?
- An established community bank with local management?
- No minimum balance, no fee checking?
- An experienced Ag lender willing to visit your farm?

For all this and more, look to Ephrata National Bank.
We have what it takes to provide the financial tools necessary for you to successfully manage your farming business

Son Stephen Lethbridge now manages sire selection and breeding for the Chan-Lee herd.

Greg and Becky Wiles of Futuraland 2020 Holsteins, Williamsport, were named Outstanding Junior Holstein Breeders for 2002.

Greg Wiles took over the breeding program from parents Charles and Martha Wiles in 1986. He has since come to own the herd, which boasts a breed age average (BAA) of 105, with many of the top indexing cows in the country being bred there.

Futuraland Tesk Pamela was their first contract cow, producing 23 daughters that scored Very Good as 2-year-olds.

Another highlight in the Futuraland herd was the 1991 purchase of Con-Acres Zita as an embryo. Among her many achievements, this animal went on to score EX-94 and produced the first commercially cloned animals to be returned to the farm.

Joe and Nona Schwartzbeck of Union Bridge received the 2002 Distinguished Service Award for their active involvement in Maryland Holstein activities over the years.

Charles and Anne Lethbridge of Chan-Lee Holsteins were named 2002 Outstanding Maryland Holstein Senior Breeders.

The 2002 Outstanding Maryland Junior Holstein Breeder Award went to Greg and Becky Wiles, right, of Futuraland 2020 Holsteins, Williamsport, Md. They are joined by award presenters Jason and Donna Myers.

Nona has been a major force in the Maryland Junior Holstein Club. She was one of the founders and continues to help with events. Nona was the first to take junior members to the National Holstein Convention and is responsible for starting the junior production award program.

Among her many other contributions, Nona has been on a number of state Holstein committees, served on the Carroll County Fair Board for 30 years, and has been inducted into the 4-H Hall of Fame.

Joe Schwartzbeck has served as president of the Maryland Holstein Association, chaired several state- and county-level committees, and been elected as delegate to the National Holstein Convention numerous times. He was selected Maryland Outstanding Young Farmer in 1972.

The Schwartzbecks own Peace & Plenty Farm with a herd of 325 registered Holsteins. Their son Gus along with wife Lisa and three children Davis, Aubrey, and Austin manage the herd and live on the main farm. Son Shane and his family help part-time on the farm while also owning a farm-related business.

Andrea Hood, Frederick County, was named Outstanding Maryland Holstein Scholar and received $2,000 toward her education. She is a junior at Delaware Valley College with a major in dairy science and a minor in communications.

A number of junior members were recognized at the banquet for record book and production achievements.

Record book winners for 2003 included, in the junior division, Austin Schwartzbeck, Aubrey Schwartzbeck, Nathan Rhoderick, Amy Yeiser, Ethan Hood, Brittany Lethbridge, Collins Lethbridge, Nicole Reese, David Nichols, Logan Moore, Scott DeBaugh, and Hannah Hood.

Intermediate division winners were Davis Schwartzbeck, Malorie Rhoderick, Curtis Rhoderick, Holly Wright, Andrew Herbst, Laurel Moore, Scott Davis, Han-

Don't Let Grass Get the Upper Hand

The quicker grass becomes established in cornfields the harder it is to kill And that means competition for emerging corn that can hurt yield potential Waiting to control grasses with post applications can backfire if weather prevents or delays the timely application of herbicides

Dow AgroSciences has the solution with its complete lineup of soil-applied herbicides – Surpass*, TopNotch* FulTime* and new Keystone* and Keystone LA herbicides All contain acetochlor as the active ingredient and require only .4 inch rain to activate They may be applied from 30 to 40 days early preplant up to 11-inch corn

Our soil-applied herbicide lineup has something for everyone

- If you don't need atrazine choose Surpass or TopNotch TopNotch is encapsulated for improved grass and weed control in high-residue fields
- If you want atrazine new Keystone and Keystone LA herbicides (1½ and 3 pounds atrazine respectively) contain next generation atrazine and advanced technology surfactant package for superior handling and consistently clean fields FulTime contains 1.35 pounds of atrazine The acetochlor is encapsulated like TopNotch

And if you're looking for a superior one-pass broad-spectrum weed control program Hornet* WDG herbicide is the perfect partner with acetochlor to take out waterhemp lambsquarters pigweed, giant and common ragweed velvetleaf cocklebur and sunflower nah Smith, Ben Yoash, and Allyson Lethbridge.

Jennifer Herbst, Washington County, and T.J. Remsburg, Frederick County, were named 2003 top senior distinguished junior members, with Herbst winning the overall trophy. Honorable mention in the senior division went to Brooke Hoffman, Erin Magness, Jacob Pieper, and Tracy Webb.

Marlee Savage of Montgomery County took home four junior production awards — in the 3-year-old, 4-year-old, 6-year-old, and lifetime production categories. Evan Patrick Creek won the 2-year-old division, and Katherine Herbst's cow topped the 5-year-old group.

Andrea Hood is recipient of this year's Outstanding Maryland Holstein Scholarship.

NFU President To Discuss Low Dairy Prices

BROOKVILLE (Jefferson Co.) — National Farmers Union President Dave Frederickson and other Farmers Union leaders will discuss solutions to low dairy prices with Brookville area farmers April 1.

Frederickson, NFU Government Relations Representative Tracy Beckman and Pennsylvania Farmers Union President Larry Breech will provide an overview of congressional actions, upcoming dairy events, and possible remedies to the dairy crisis.

"Today dairy farmers are receiving the lowest prices for their products since 1979, and unfortunately, economic projections are not showing an increase in prices for the coming months," said Breech. "Both producers and consumers are loosing the fight on this issue."

"Milk prices are well below the cost of production and it is having a devastating effect on our rural economies," Breech said. "Our dairy producers are producing millions of gallons of milk per year, yet are unable to make a profit, while dairy manufacturers continue to profit year after year."

Farmers Union has been urging Congress to hold hearings to determine whether a lack of market competition within the dairy industry is resulting in price gouging for both consumers and producers. NFU, along with a coalition of other groups, will conduct a dairy fly-in in Washington, D.C., April 7-9 to address the negative impacts of imported milk protein concentrates.

A Farmers Union member-only event will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Roseville Grange located on Rt. 322 west of Brookville, Pa. The program, which is open to the public, will begin at 8 p.m. For more information, contact Breech at (570) 784-9326.

Lancaster Holstein Club Travels To Mifflin County Farms

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

BELLEVILLE (Mifflin Co.) — Lancaster County Holstein Club members spent a day viewing great cows and scenery in the area around Belleville Tuesday.

The tour bus with some 20 Holstein breeders and enthusiasts first stopped at Ammon Farms near Lewistown before heading over the mountain into the Big Valley.

Mike Ammon is the fifth generation on Ammon Farms, owned by his parents Bill and Helen. The Ammons send eight to 10 bulls a year to A.I. studs from their 80-cow lineup.

The herd is housed in freestalls and milked in a tiestall barn. The focus of the breeding program is on productive animals that can thrive in modern dairy facilities.

"The cows are there in the freestalls, and if they are good they'll rise to the top," said Mike Ammon, who manages the herd and handles sire selection and bull marketing. "(Freestalls) are where most cows are. We don't baby cows.

"We don't breed for show," he said. "The goal is to provide functional, profitable cows."

The group also visited the herds of Paul Neer, Mel Peachey, Keith and Kent Spicher, and Vernon Yoder, all in the Belleville area.

Paul Neer is a full-time hoof trimmer who recently began building a purebred herd, Pencroft Holsteins, housed in a rented dairy barn near Belleville. At this point he keeps about 20 cows in the tiestall setup.

Neer is part owner of Carmell Linjet Sunshine, an Excellent-93 cow who was named Reserve All-American and Reserve All-Canadian last year as a 4-year-old.

According to Neer, the business of hoof trimming allows him the opportunity to see a large number of cows in his daily work and provides him with contacts to help build his herd.

Mel Peachey, along with wife Judy and children Michael, 13; Tonya, 11; and Colton, 8 tend a high-producing herd of 50 Holsteins in a tiestall barn. Tran-Acres is the farm name.

The Peachey herd posted 32,106 pounds of milk, 1,073 pounds of fat, and 951 of protein in last month's Dairy One report.

Close attention to feed quality and breeding plays a big part in making the Peachey cows one of the top-producing herds in the state.

Of the homebred Holsteins on the farm, Mel is particularly pleased with Tran-Acres Moonbreeze, classified Very Good-88 as a young cow.

The Peacheys also own Great View Marina Marbeli, a 15-year-old EX-93 cow with 194,000 pounds of lifetime milk production to date.

The Spicher family, David and sons Keith and Kent of Kish-View Farms, told the story of rebuilding a new dairy setup after a fire destroyed the old one in November 2001.

The family milked the herd in headlocks under a makeshift roof from November through January — a total of 164 milkings — while working on the new facility.

"A new parlor wasn't really in our 5-year plan," Kent said, noting that most of the equipment in the double-8 parallel parlor is secondhand.

Fifty volunteers helped the Spichers clean up and rebuild after the catastrophe, which brought a drop in rolling herd average from about 26,000 pounds to 23,000 pounds, and increased the average calving interval by three months. But the family is at work bringing things back to normal.

"This (new facility) is something the boys dreamed of having someday," David said. "But this isn't the way we wanted it to happen."

Vernon Yoder talks about his herd, Ver-Nan Holsteins near Belleville.

The Spichers milk about 200 Holsteins in the new setup. They farm about 500 acres, growing their own forages and high-moisture corn.

Vernon Yoder and wife Nancy of Ver-Nan Holsteins started dairying in 1993. They operate in a 55-cow tiestall barn and farm 120 acres, about half of which they own.

The Yoders also experienced some unique challenges in recent years, including a battle with mycotoxins in feed and losing some top cows in the heat of last summer.

A large number of replacement heifers on the farm, however, helped the Yoders get the high-type herd back on track.

"Two years ago, we had a 70 percent heifer-to-bull ratio," Vernon said. Today, 22 of the 55 cows in the barn are first-calf heifers.

Highlights in the Yoder herd include two Excellent cows with production records of 35,000 and 38,000 pounds, respectively.

Kent and David Spicher of Kish-View Farms show visitors their new dairy facility, seen here in the background. The holding area and parlor were built after a fire destroyed the old setup in 2001.

Trust To Launch Spring Campaign

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Heidi Schellenger, executive director, announced today that Lancaster Farmland Trust will introduce new membership-giving levels during the upcoming spring campaign.

"There has been a call for a clearer definition of membership from our supporters," said Schellenger, "and we have worked hard to find an improved way to communicate about membership with this group."

The Trust, which has a membership of 2,300, will launch the spring campaign on March 31.

Membership-giving levels include four groups — three for individuals and one for businesses. "Membership giving levels are given farm-related names like Farmland Protector and Preservation Investor, marking a connection between the member's gift and Lancaster Farmland Trust's mission," said Schellenger. She also noted that membership benefits, which include a quarterly newsletter and special invitations to Trust events, will be clearly stated in solicitation materials.

"Our members are the lifeblood of Lancaster Farmland Trust — their contributions make it possible for Lancaster Farmland Trust to help Lancaster County farmers preserve their farms," Schellenger said, "I want to ensure that they know how we use their contributions, and how much we appreciate their support."

The levels will be given to contributors to the Trust for their cumulative gifts during 2003.

For more information about becoming or continuing as a Lancaster Farmland Trust member, call Renny Magill, director of development, at (717) 293-0707, or e-mail Renny@savelancasterfarms.org .

New Rendell Budget Proposal Adds Ag Funds

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Gov. Ed Rendell's recently unveiled tax plan adds new benefits for the state's farmers, according to Dennis Wolff, Pennsylvania secretary of agriculture.

"There are two very significant changes," Wolff said. These are the proposed cut in property taxes, as well as $100 million to provide low-interest loans for agriculture and tourism, including a small-business loan program and a matching equipment loan fund (MELF).

The proposal announced this week would cut property taxes across the state by 30 percent on average, and a minimum of 15 percent to any school district across the state.

According to Rendell's proposal, the property tax cuts would be offset by a 34 percent jump in state income taxes.

The state personal income tax would increase from 2.8 percent to 3.75 percent under the plan, generating about $2.2 billion in 2003-2004 as part of his promised $3 billion "Plan for a New Pennsylvania."

Wolff said he is pleased with the budget.

"It's great to see this administration addressing agriculture as the important part of the economy that it is," he said.

Rendell's proposal to legalize slot machines at some horse racing tracks would also prove to be a benefit to agriculture, Wolff noted.

Education is one of the top priorities in the budget, which would allot $550 million for new initiatives in 2003-2004, and more than $1 billion per year in the future.

State lawmakers will evaluate the new budget before proposing changes or voting on it.

East Fluid Milk And Cream Review

Madison, Wis.
March 26, 2003
Report Supplied by USDA

Spot prices of class II cream, dollars per lb butterfat: F.O.B producing plants. Northeast· 1 3588-1.4903 Delivered Equivalent: Atlanta. 1.3807-1.5012 mostly 1 4245-1.4465.

PRICES OF CONDENSED SKIM, dollars per lb. wet solids, F O.B producing plants: Northeast Class II, includes monthly formula prices· .9000- 9800, Class III - spot prices - .7400-.8200

SPOT SHIPMENTS OF GRADE A MILK: FLORIDA: This Week: In 0, Out 42; Last Week: In 0, Out 0; Last Year: In 0, Out 86. SOUTHEAST STATES: This week: In 0, Out 0; last week: In 0, Out 0, last year: In 0, Out 0.

Regional Milk Market Administrators announced the following, February 2003 uniform prices. Northeast $11 79, Mideast $10 72, Southeast $12 32, Florida $13 65 and Western New York (a state order) $11 40 at the base city or county in the orders (For the Northeast, Mideast, and Western New York orders, statistical uniform prices are reported)

Milk production is increasing along seasonal patterns in the Middle Atlantic and Northeastern states Milk output is increasing more noticeably in the Southeast The weather has warmed in most areas of the East and having a positive impact on the milk flow Fluid milk supplies are long and Florida continues to ship milk out of state for processing Bottled milk demand is seldom better than fair. Traditionally, milk sales do slow down during March The two major influences on the slower demand are spring break and the exodus of the winter residents from Florida and other Southeastern "wintering grounds" Surplus milk volumes range from moderate to long Some increased manufacturing is reported in the Southeast as milk supplies increase In the Northeast, manufacturing is steady, but some plants, or portions of them, are reportedly going to be down later this week for maintenance

The condensed skim markets are about steady Demand for both Class II & III wet solids is little changed from earlier this month.

The fluid cream market is mixed The market tone has been firm for most of March, but some suppliers note that a couple users will have operations down late this week (as noted above) and are taking less cream after midweek This will put more cream on the market Spot prices are higher and lower as the drop in price reflects some late-week sales. Demand for Class II cream has been improving as the weather improves Most noticeably, soft serve ice cream mix makers have been looking for more cream in the last week or so Additionally, producers of aerosol, whipped cream were looking for extra loads late last weak and early this week Some improvement in bottled cream processing was also noted Ice cream producers are starting to gear up for spring needs and most are operating on slightly longer schedules Most ice cream producers have little trouble finding desired volumes of cream Fuel surcharges are becoming more of a factor in transportation costs Reports of a surcharge of 20¢ were noted, but 10-12¢ is more common Churning activity is steady to occasionally lighter due to the improving demand for Class II & III cream

WINSTON SALEM, N.C. — National Holstein Convention planners have announced farm tour locations for this year's convention in North Carolina June 21-24.

Two separate tours will be conducted — one in the eastern part of the state, the other in the western part. The tours will take place simultaneously on Sunday, June 22 from from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The eastern tour will include visits to Maple View Farm Inc., Hillsborough, N.C., a 120-cow operation run by Bob and Chris Nutter and Russ and Kelly Seibert; and Buttke Dairy Enterprise, 1,400-cow dairy owned by Arlini and Norma Buttke, Randleman, N.C.

The western tour group will visit Sunny Hill Farm, a 140-cow dairy operated by Vance and Susan Proctor, Vale, N.C.; and Rocky Creek Dairy, which features an 1,100-cow herd managed by Ben and Mimi Shelten, Olin, N.C.

USDA-NRCS Seeks Info From Technical Service Providers

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) seeks information on market prices for conservation technical services from existing and potential technical service providers during the next several weeks.

"The pricing information we collect will help us establish payment rates for existing and potential technical service providers," said Robin Heard, NRCS state conservationist for Pennsylvania. "USDA needs this information to ensure that providers receive fair market prices for the services they perform."

The 2002 Farm Bill expanded the availability of technical assistance to producers by encouraging the use of third parties, called technical service providers, to help landowners meet their conservation goals.

This process allows USDA to provide more resources for technical assistance from private and nonprofit sectors and state and local governments. As a result, producers can select NRCS or technical service providers to help them meet their conservation goals.

USDA is seeking sources of certified technical service providers and costs for the technical services they provide by March 30. Conservation technical services include conservation planning and the design, layout, installation, and review of approved conservation practices.

The work completed by these technical service providers must meet NRCS standards and specifications, program requirements, and relevant laws and regulations.

Respondents can submit information via the Internet, e-mail, and regular mail. Please submit information online at http://tspcost.sc.egov.usda.gov/ through the "Data Entry" button.

Mail responses can be sent to Edward M. Biggers, Director, Management Services Division, Room 5221-S, USDA-NRCS, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW. Washington DC 20250.

For more information on becoming a technical service provider in Pennsylvania, begin the registration process at http://techreg.usda.gov/, or contact Gary Smith, assistant state conservationist, at (717) 237-2204.

2003 Cropping Intentions Being Measured

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Farmers have already started to talk about which crops and how many acres they intend to plant. For example, how much corn will be planted and how does this compare with 2002? In 2002, Pennsylvania farmers planted 1.45 million acres, which was a three percent decrease from 2001.

The Pennsylvania Agricultural Statistics Service (PASS), a field office of USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service, is responsible for publishing statistics about crop intentions for Pennsylvania. These numbers are based on information gathered from the nationwide March Agricultural Survey. Farmers see direct benefits from this project because it allows producers to make sound planting decisions, based on changes in agricultural markets and planting intentions reported in this survey.

For Pennsylvania we collect information on acreage planting intentions for corn, soybeans, sorghum, winter wheat, oats, and barley; on-farm stocks data for whole grain corn, soybeans, sorghum grain, wheat, oats, and barley; and acres cut and to be cut for dry hay in 2003.

About 1,450 Pennsylvania farmers are being asked to take part in this national effort to measure farmer's planting intentions for 2003. "The participation of Pennsylvania farmers is imperative to ensure that planting intentions, stocks, and hay to be cut are accurately being measured," said Mark Tosiano, State Statistician, of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Statistics Service.

The operators, who are randomly sampled, will be mailed a pre-survey letter informing them of the requested information and a sample copy of the questionnaire. The operators will be called or personally visited by an interviewer from February 27 to March 11.

Individual operation information is completely confidential by law. PASS safeguards the confidentiality of all survey responses. The data are only used in combination with reports from other farmers to prepare State and National statistics.

Results from the survey will be available in the Prospective Plantings report from Washington, D.C. March 31, at 8:30 a.m. It will be available on the Internet at http://www.usda.gov/nass/. The statistics are also available in the Ag Digest. This bi-monthly publication is available from our web site at http://www.nass.usda.gov/pa/. Results from the March Agricultural Survey will be mailed upon request.

Statewide Video Conference Planned On Rural Development

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania Rural Development Council (PRDC) Executive Director Jody Bruckner has announced the PRDC will host the first videoconference for 2003 titled "Pennsylvania's Rural Opportunities for the Future."

This videoconference will begin at 9:30 a.m., Friday, April 4, at 17 interactive sites throughout Pennsylvania, as well as a site in Washington, D.C.

The videoconference will begin with Congressman John E. Peterson, Member of the U.S. House of Representatives and Co-chair of the Congressional Rural Caucus. Congressman Peterson will discuss "Pennsylvania Opportunities through the Congressional Rural Caucus Efforts."

Concluding the conference will be a presentation by Rick Peltz — Alternate Co-chair, Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) "An Overview of the ARC and its five goal areas: Education and Workforce Training, Physical Infrastructure, Civic Capacity Leadership, Dynamic and self-sustaining Economics, and Telecommunications initiative."

"Government can not force change. However, the PRDC is working to aggregate the demand for change" Bruckner said. "This video conference is an example of the high tech digital change coming to rural Pennsylvania. Through the leadership of Governor Rendell these instruments of change, will enable heretofore isolated citizens to actually have a personal voice directly with government officials."

Scheduled to speak at the videoconference are: Congressman John E. Peterson, Member, U.S. House of Representatives and Rick Peltz, Alternate Co-chair, Appalachian Regional Commission.

Invited to speak are Governor Edward G. Rendell and Congressman Tim Holden, Member, U.S. House of Representatives.

Attendees may choose any of PRDC's 17 sites: Altoona, Bradford, Butler, Cambridge Springs, Coudersport, Greensburg, Greenville, Harrisburg, Kutztown, Lock Haven, Montandon, St. Marys, Titusville, Waynesburg, Wellsboro, Williamsport, and Washington D.C.

For further information concerning the videoconference, please contact Joyce Hockenberry at (717) 787-1954 or jhockenber@state.pa.us.

Rendell Administration Announces Pennsylvania Farmland Preservation Milestone During National Ag Week

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — At the March State Agricultural Land Preservation Board meeting, Agriculture Secretary Dennis C Wolff announced Pennsylvania's greatest preservation milestone to date, more than 250,000 acres of prime farmland has been preserved since the program's inception in 1989.

Wolff also announced that Governor Edward G. Rendell has issued Executive Order 2003-2, the Agricultural Land Preservation Policy. This Executive Order directs all agency programs and regulations under the governor's jurisdiction to protect the commonwealth's prime agricultural land from irreversible conversions to other uses. The directive states that no commonwealth funds should be used to encourage the conversion of prime agricultural land when feasible alternatives are available.

Several county farmland preservation board administrators were in attendance for the announcement of the preservation of more than 250,000 acres of Pennsylvania farmland. Joining Wolff are: back row, left to right, June Mengel, Lancaster; Stephanie Zimmerman, Berks; David Boose, York; Rich Huether, Blair; Jeff Stutzman, Schuylkill; Donna Fisher, Blair; and Elizabeth Emlen, Montgomery. Seated, from left, are Betty Reefer, Westmoreland; Secretary Wolff; and Jeff Zehr, Lehigh.

"Farmland is the foundation of Pennsylvania agriculture," said Wolff. "Today marks a great milestone in the history of Pennsylvania's nationally recognized farmland preservation program and a great tribute to National Agriculture Week. With over a quarter-million farmland acres preserved, Pennsylvania continues to set the national standard in farmland preservation. The signing of the Agricultural Land Preservation Policy Executive Order by Governor Rendell further illustrates our commitment to protect the commonwealths' prime agricultural resources."

With the latest approval of 23 farms totaling 2,456 acres at the March meeting, Pennsylvania has preserved 2,132 farms with 252,296 acres since 1989.

The State Agricultural Land Preservation Board purchases the development rights, referred to as easements, to preserve Pennsylvania's prime farmland. There are 53 counties participating in the farmland preservation program.

"Pennsylvania's farmland preservation successes are based on the grass roots efforts of our county preservation boards and landowners," noted Wolff. "The additional support from our state lawmakers and governor have helped Pennsylvania to move its farmland preservation program to the next level."

To further assist in preserving productive agricultural land, the Department of Agriculture operates the Land Trust Reimbursement Program. This program has helped preserve 3,087 acres approved in eight trusts.

To learn more about Pennsylvania's nationally recognized farmland preservation program, contact the Department's Bureau of Farmland Preservation at (717) 783-3167 or visit the PA PowerPort at www.state.pa.us, PA Keyword: "agriculture."

Hoof Trimmers To Demonstrate Good Foot Care

DAVE LEFEVER
Lancaster Farming Staff

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Dale Herr has been trimming dairy cow hooves for about 20 years. During that time, he has seen the need for skilled hoof trimmers grow.

While the number of dairy farms has been decreasing considerably, herd sizes keep growing. So have the number of cows that spend most or all of their time on concrete — and need more attention paid to their feet.

"We keep getting less customers but more cows (that need trimming,)" said Herr, who grew up on a dairy farm near New Holland and now lives in Lititz.

He talked about his profession recently while at work trimming hooves on the 450-cow dairy farm of Cletus and Dale Balmer, Manheim. As one of two regular hoof trimmers hired by the dairy, Herr visits the Balmers' herd the third week of each month to perform maintenance and corrective trimming.

Herr uses an electric six-bladed chipper wheel for about 70 percent of the trimming work, and reaches for his hand tools to do the rest. The combination of tools is just an individual preference, according to Herr. He noted that many trimmers use the chipper wheel for practically the entire job.

"I trimmed with only hand tools for 14 years and never switched completely," Herr said.

Trimmers also have their own opinions on the best type of chute to hold the cow while trimming. While Herr uses the kind of turntable that rotates cows onto their side, some trimmers like the standing chutes that keep the cow upright.

According to Herr, this preference has more to do with the type of equipment the hoof trimmer is used to rather than one kind of chute being better than the other.

While healthy cows generally have their hooves trimmed once a year, Herr said some producers do twice-a-year maintenance trimming to help maximize the benefits of the extra foot care.

"The ideal time to trim is toward the end of the lactation when the cow is going into her dry period," Herr said. "Some producers also trim at the 150-day point in the lactation."

Cows with foot problems such as sole ulcers, footrot, hairy warts, and laminitis need to be trimmed and/or treated more frequently. Herr applies medication and bandages, and keeps a log of problems for each herd.

Many of the dairy farms Herr visits in Lancaster and Chester counties are those of longtime customers. His own schedule is fully booked, but Herr still finds time to help promote better hoof care on dairy farms, and is a member of the National Hoof-trimmers Association.

"The hoof trimming industry at this stage in the game is not regulated," he said. "That opens the door to both good and bad trimmers."

Herr is one of the organizers for an upcoming hoof trimming clinic at the Lebanon Expo Center on April 4. The clinic is designed to "Help the farmer understand foot health better, and help the trimmer learn," Herr said.

The free clinic is set from 9 a.m to 3 p.m. on April 4. Lunch is included.

Herr is hoping about 400 dairy farmers and 70 hoof trimmers attend the clinic, which will include live hoof trimming demonstrations and lessons by veterinarians.

On hand will be Dan McFarland, Penn State extension ag engineer, to discuss cow facilities; Paul Neer to demonstrate hoof trimming; and Dr. Gary Grumble discussing the various types of foot disease.

Hoof trimmers helping to organize the event along with Herr are Paul Neer, Mifflin County; Paul Beiler, Lebanon County; Jason Charles, Lancaster County; Jim Zimmerman, Lancaster County; and Garth Campbell, Dauphin County.

For more information, call Herr at (717) 627-2371, or Paul Neer at (717) 935-5608.

DCP Sign-Up Deadline Nears

POTTSVILLE (Schuykill Co.) — County Committee Chairperson, Ronald Troxell reminds farmers that the April 1 base selection deadline is almost upon us. Growers have until April 1 to make a base selection and provide the owner's agreement to participate in the direct and Counter Cyclical Payment Program (DCP). Missing this critical date could cause you to lose valuable program benefits.

Sign-up activities require that many growers visit the office more than once. Troxell suggests that growers contact the office for an appointment prior to their visit. Office staff can then prepare for the visit to greatly speed the process.

The different options afforded by the program cause enrollment to take slightly longer then previous enrollment experiences. The required involvement of farm owners is a new twist, which can also take additional time. If a farm operator wishes to separate multi ownership tracts into separate farms another visit is required before the farms can be enrolled.

Singer Sandi Patty To Entertain At Poultry Council's Banquet

Sandi Patty is the featured entertainer at the PennAg Poultry Council's spring fund-raising banquet.

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The PennAg Poultry Council has announced that Sandi Patty, one of America's favorite inspirational singers, will be the featured entertainer at its Annual Spring Banquet, Wednesday, April 23 at the Lancaster Host Expo Center, Rt. 30 east of Lancaster.

This annual event is a major fund raiser for the Poultry Council. Orders for tickets and advertising in the banquet program are being solicited from the state's poultry producers and agribusinesses. Tickets are $100 per person; a table of 10 (with company logo displayed) is $1,000; and table of 12 (with company logo displayed) is $1,200.

Those who cannot attend can support the Poultry Council by buying absentee tickets for $100 each and have their names listed in the program.

Companies are being asked to consider advertising in the banquet program and the 2003-2004 Buyer's Guide. The advertisement will appear in both publications at no additional cost. The deadline for advertisements is March 31, 2003.

Proceeds from the fundraising dinner will be used to protect the interests of the Pennsylvania poultry industry and its suppliers.

Jim Shirk, assistant vice president of the Penn Ag Industries Association and executive director of the Poultry Council, said in time of crisis such as battling avian disease, effective communication and advocacy for the poultry industry and its suppliers has never been more important.

Funds from the banquet, he noted, will help to strengthen the Poultry Council's alliance with the PennAg Industry Association, the leading voice and watchdog for agribusiness in Pennsylvania. PennAg provides defense against the onslaught of industry regulations and critics.

For tickets and/or advertising, contact PennAg Industries Association, Northwood Office Center, 2215 forest Hills Drive, Suite 39, Harrisburg, PA 17112-1099; phone (717) 651-5920; e-mail: jshirk@pennag.com.

Penn State Poultry Science Club Best In Nation

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The Penn State Poultry Science Club was recognized as the 2003 National Club of the Year by the United States Poultry and Egg Association (USPEA). The club also received the award for the "Best Scrapbook" for the fourth consecutive year.

The awards were presented at the USPEA Poultry Science Club meeting recently during the International Poultry Exposition in Atlanta, Ga. Penn State's club was selected based on an application and a club activities review. The club previously has won several USPEA national awards.

The club processes and sells fresh and smoked turkeys at holidays to finance the members' annual trip to the International Poultry Exposition, the world's largest poultry trade show. It also donated turkeys to a local food bank, the United Way, a regional Boy Scouts Council, and two local churches for the holiday season. The club raised money for the Penn State Dance Marathon, a cancer research and support charity that is the largest student-run fund-raiser in the nation.

The club's goal is to provide students with opportunities for industry involvement that broaden their educational experiences.

"I think this accomplishment speaks a great deal about the professionalism of the club," said club president Heather Gates. "I am hoping that these awards will help the club recruit new members, both current students and incoming freshmen."

For more information on the club, contact senior extension associate and club advisor Phillip Clauer by phone at (814) 863-8960 or by e-mail at pclauer@psu.edu , or visit the club's Website at http://poultry.cas.psu.edu/psciclub.htm.

Vegetable Producers To Vote

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary designate Dennis C Wolff announced the referendum period for the Pennsylvania Vegetable Marketing and Research Program. The referendum period began March 17 and ends March 31.

"I encourage all Pennsylvania vegetable producers to participate in this important referendum. In order to continue the essential benefits provided through marketing and research, we must have producer support from across the commonwealth," Wolff said.

All vegetable producers within the commonwealth who grow one or more acres of vegetables for sale are eligible to vote, as are all producers who, for the purpose of selling, grow vegetables in a 1,000-square-foot minimum of greenhouse area.

Ballots may be obtained from, and returned to, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Market Development, Room 311, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17110. Hand-delivered ballots must be received no later than 4 p.m. on March 31 and if mailed, they must be postmarked March 31 and received no later than April 7. All ballots must be signed. Voting results will be announced within 30 days following completion of the referendum period.

temperature during the day, according to Thompson, never dropped below 100 degrees. At night, he said, the temperature "seldom went below 90 degrees."

Thompson pointed out that, like the saying, it's not the heat, it's the humidity that can be crucial.

Thompson said, "I'd rather have 115 degrees at 6 percent humidity than 80 degrees at 90 percent humidity."

Heat stress on the milking herd results in less food intake, crippling production.

From a PowerPoint presentation, Thompson showed evidence of cows standing near misters from a commercial supplier that included a marquee-like digital thermometer. The thermometer was clear to everyone who saw: shade temperature at the time was 111 degrees, but cooling temperature stood at 59 degrees.

Thompson said he spent $960,000 on equipment to cool cows. The equipment has sophisticated monitors on ambient temperature, humidity, and wind velocity, including date and time of day.

Using the commercial mister, despite the swirling vapor, the manure pack remains dry. "About 750 gallons per minute evaporate without ever touching the ground," said Thompson.

The key term is "evaporative cooling," noted Thompson. Enough moisture is applied so the natural, evaporative cooling from the cow's hide provides relief for the cows.

Cooling helps maintain feed intake, increases milk production, improves reproduction, helps the cow maintain body condition, decreases illness, and decreases mortality. All lactating pens are cooled.

As a result, the current herd average is 28,900 pounds of milk at 3.5 percent fat. The herd is milked three times per day.

According to the University of Arizona, Stotz Dairy has been the highest producing herd in Arizona for 15 of the last 18 years.

Thompson, who grew up in California (near Disneyland), learned a lot of dairying from his uncle, who operated a 60-cow Guernsey herd in Minnesota in the early 1970s. The uncle, who never took vacation, "lived and loved those cows," Thompson said.

Thompson's father was an aerospace engineer with North American Rockwell who took early retirement and wanted to partner with a dairy near Alexandria, Minn.

Tom Thompson, who obtained a degree from California Polytechnic State University in San Luis Obispo, Calif., decided on Arizona as the place to be for the dairy. He purchased the land 23 years ago and began, in 1981, with 539 springers from Wisconsin.

Land value was about $600 per acre in 1980. Now, the same land is valued at $25,000 per acre. Needless to say, Thompson noted, "nobody is building a dairy with less than 2,500 milking cows."

Stotz current milking herd size is 3,676.

Back in the early 1980s, herd average was about 19,800 pounds milking three times a day. The first expansion was to 800 cows with a 24-stall polygon. In 1988, the dairy began a 4X per day milking over a two-year period. At the same time, the herd was under a pre-approved BST test.

Though with the 4X per day milking the rolling herd average soared to 25,000 pounds, the stress from several factors, including heating, was an issue. The farm returned to a 3X a day milking.

In 1990, the herd was expanded to 1,000 cows. In 1993, a 34-stall, polygon, parabone-milking parlor was built.

A second milking parlor — a double-30 parallel parlor — was added in 1995. The barns are equipped with automatic detachers, clean-in-place wash-up system, cow wash sprinklers, air crowd gate, air-operated cow indexing stalls, and automatic cow movement system.

The parlors are cooled in the summer by the evaporative cooling system Milk is cooled through a precooler and a rapid plate cooler, which combine to bring the temperature down to 38 degrees before it enters the silo.

Water used in the precooler, vacuum pump, and refrigeration system is recycled for the cow wash and barn flush system. Heat recovery units are used to conserve electricity.

The newer parlor uses a computer chip attached to each cow. This transponder automatically records when the cows comes to the parlor, how much milk she produced for that milking, and how long it takes to milk her. The computer utilizes pedometers and conductivity to aid in the detection of sick cows and cows in heat. The computer also uses a sort gate system to catch cows as needed.

In September 1995, the herd was expanded to 3,600 cows. Stotz Dairy went from 18 to 38 employees "overnight," said Thompson.

Stotz Farm employs 43 full-time, including six lead milkers, six assistant milkers, six trainee/cow pushers, four relief milkers, six outside and relief workers, four feeders, four calf feeders, three herdsmen, two assistant managers, office manager, and a general manager.

About 80 percent of the workforce lives on the dairy. Most of the workers are Hispanic.

At the conference, Thompson reviewed the more than two dozen complex protocols employed at Stotz Dairy for nutrition, calving procedures, fresh pen management, reproductive palpations, heat stress, replacement heifers, and milking management.

A key area, nutrition, involves a true TMR three times a day. After milking, cows get a fresh feed. A nutritionist formulates the rations. Shade is provided to 50 percent of the length of the manger.

Each scraping from the feed areas is weighed to see how much, exactly, the cows eat. The manger scraping measurements include detail on cows in pen, what fed, percent ration, total leftover, and a computer program provides recommendations to improve the ration.

"We try to cater to the cows and do what they'd like us to do," said Thompson.

The farm has used BST since the beginning. Thompson measured a 14.8 percent increase in total pounds milked, about 10 pounds increase per treated cow. That equates, over a 10-11 day injection cycle, of a 5.2 percent increase in feed intake and a 7.5 percent increase in feed expense, he noted.

Despite some talk of "corporate farms" and the size of large-scale farms, Thompson believes in the American farm enterprise system.

'We still think of ourselves as a family dairy," Thompson said. Tammy, his wife, is office manager. His oldest daughter, Jennifer, a senior at Cal Poly, accompanied him to the Grantville conference.

The protocols are being revised steadily to improve the herd.

Arizona is still a "milk-deficient state," said Thompson. The state relies on imports, especially ly the size of our current bull barn," he said. "Not to mention the 100 feet by 200 feet gravel lots with mounds.

"Relatively speaking, these pens could hold a lot more beef cattle than the 30 bulls we are projecting for each pen."

Bull test capability will increase from 76 to approximately 150 bulls, boars from 60 to 144 boars, and rams from 80 to 300 rams.

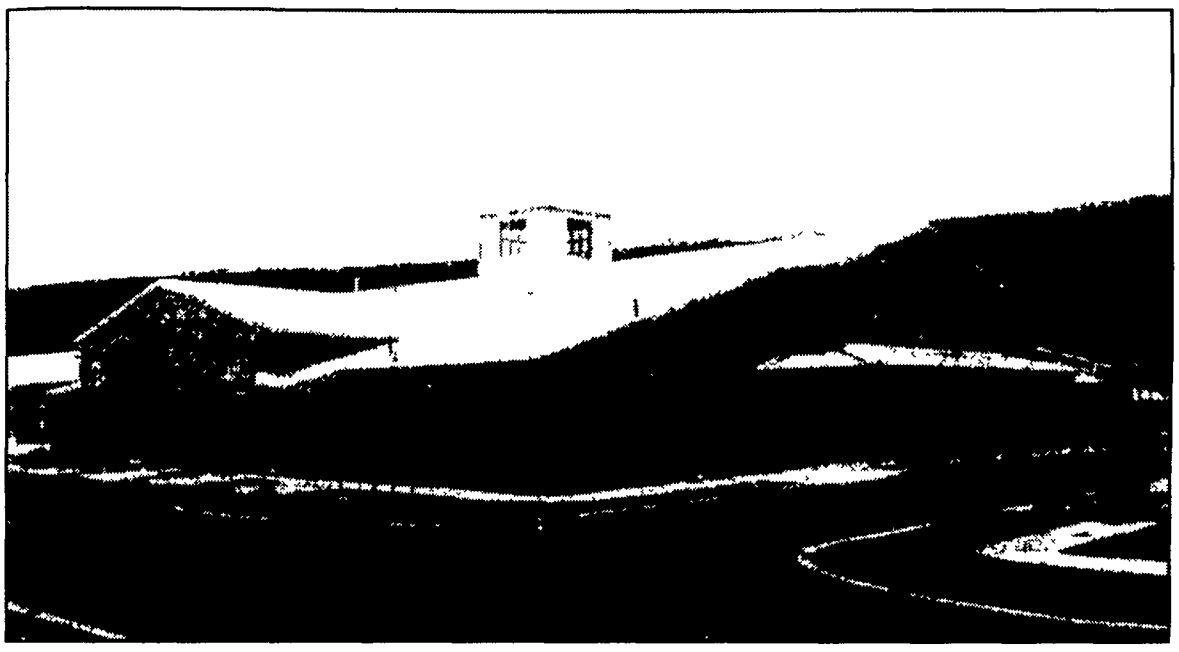
"We tried to design and build a facility with a great deal of flexibility and utility to it," says Glenn Eberly, Livestock Evaluation Center director.



The new $6.4 million center is 10 times larger than the current facility operated by the PDA.

from California, about six hours away. "Experts think of us as a part of California," Thompson said.

The Stotz vision: "Holsteins between the cacti," Thompson noted.

This past week, the temperature stood at 86 degrees. "For eight months out of the year, we have gorgeous weather," he said. But in the summertime, temperatures can rise to 125 degrees.

Average rainfall in Arizona is six inches per year. The state has experienced a four-year drought. "We had five inches in February this year," he said. One storm recorded 2.25 inches of rainfall in February.

Arizona has 135 dairy operations with an average herd size of 1,030 cows. That qualifies them as number one in the nation in herd size, noted Thompson.

In 2001, Arizona was sixth in the nation in production per cow, with an average of 20,679 pounds of milk per cow per year. Ninety percent of the dairy producers are members of the United Dairymen of Arizona. The cooperative, growing at rate of 5 percent each year, operates a quota program, which encourages members to adjust production to market needs.

The operations produce more than 3 billion pounds of milk per year, the majority of Arizona's fresh milk and dairy product needs, including much of the hard cheese and butter demands, and some cultured dairy products. Holsteins make up 91 percent of the state herds, with the rest predominately Jerseys. The remainder are Brown Swiss, Guernseys, and Milking Shorthorn. Eight percent of the cows in the state are registered.

Also at the conference, Tom Shephard, Agri-Edge, Inc, a business development subsidiary of Dairylea Cooperative, spoke about the role the business plays in economic development.

Shephard noted that the "2-In-10" Rule applies to businesses such as dairying. He noted that out of 10 years, two will have significant profits, two will have some growth, four will hold their own, and two have potential losses.

He explained ways in which farmers can work together in ways to secure capital needs for expansion. Even a brand-new dairy, looking at a 600-cow herd size, will invest about $1.1 million in cattle and equipment and $2.2 in a facility. That $3.3 million will require equity of about $1.4 million to get started. "It's a tough nut to crack," said Shephard.

Jim Vincent, president of L-Brooke Farms, Inc., Byron, N.Y., spoke about his 7,000-acre western New York operation, including 450 fields and 12 full-time employees, a business with four partners.

Vincent spoke about the strengths to be found in partnering and working together to ensure the viability of agriculture. The farm includes 2,500 acres of process beets, carrots, sweet corn, and other crops. In addition, they grow 800 acres of wheat, 2,200 acres of corn, 1,000 acres of alfalfa, and 800 acres of soybeans.

Vincent spoke about the need for proper formal buyer-seller arrangements in the partnering, limited liability corporations, and how he helped devise "unconventional, creative ways to finance a 2,500-cow dairy using our modeling techniques," he said.

Also, when forming a business arrangement, have an exit strategy prepared from the beginning. "Don't do one without the other," Vincent said.

New Livestock Evaluation Center

"With the new facility and its increased space and capabilities, we are starting a parallel gilt testing program to accompany the boar testing program," Eberly said.

"We already have about 30 goats nominated for our new Meat (Boer) Goat Testing Program."

In addition, "we are in the discussion phase of adopting a steer and/or heifer test."

Newly-hired assistant director Greg Hubbard graduated with a bachelor's degree in agricultural sciences from Penn State in 2000.

Hubbard has a well-rounded livestock background from his family's sheep and cropping operation in Luzerne County, his time with FFA projects in high school, and time spent at Penn State.

He also worked as an animal feed nutritionist for Agway Feed and Nutrition before coming to the Livestock Evaluation Center last November.

"I feel so lucky to be involved with this world-class facility, and I look forward to working with the livestock producers of the state," said Hubbard.

"Greg brings an enthusiasm and work ethic that is a huge asset to the Livestock Evaluation Center," said Eberly.

According to Eberly, the severe winter has greatly hampered the project, with the extreme cold temperatures, frozen ground, and deep snow.

"It was very difficult for the construction crew, with much of the work needing to be done out in the elements," said Eberly.

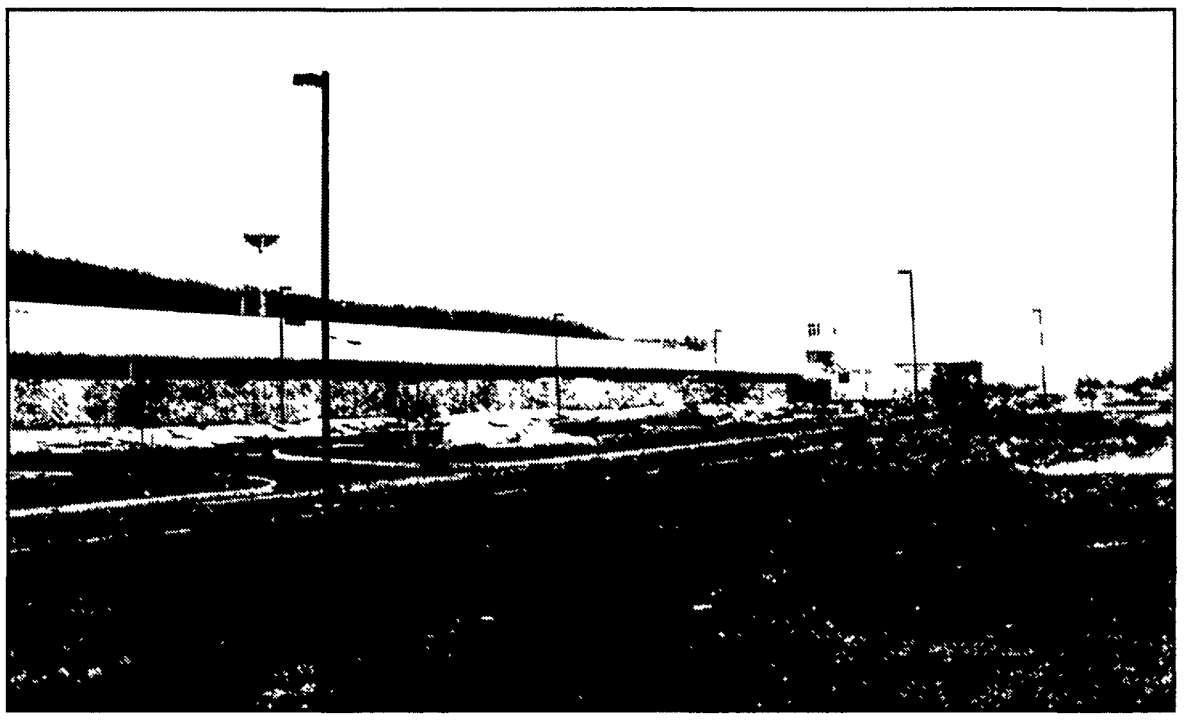
The part of the project that is most nearly completed is the hog barn, which was "design built" by Farmer Boy Ag Systems, Inc. of Myerstown, "the only true ag contractor on the project," said Eberly.

The building was designed by Mark Schwager, who works for the Pennsylvania Department of General Services, Bureau of Engineering and Architecture.

In addition, there are nine general contractors who all have subcontactors. The head contractor is Poole-Anderson Construction.

For more information about the Livestock Evaluation Center call (814) 238-2527.

Bull test capability will increase from 76 to approximately 150 bulls, boars from 60 to 144 boars, and rams from 80 to 300 rams.



"The new facility is roughly 80 percent complete," says Glenn Eberly, LEC director. "The hog barn is relatively completed and we already have boars and gilts there."

Rutgers Offers Pasture Short Course

PHILLIPSBURG, N.J. — The maintenance of high quality pastures can afford many positive advantages for area equine, dairy, and livestock growers across the region. Well cared for and maintained pastures not only provide efficient and excellent nutrition for farm animals, but can provide water recharge areas, buffer, or filter strips that assist in the water quality entering streams and aquifers, and in general add a tremendous esthetic value to the farm and the general community. To achieve these attributes, land owners, and practitioners need to understand the dynamics of pasture management and more importantly, how to implement and apply the basics of sound pasture management.

To achieve these goals, Rutgers Cooperative Extension of Hunterdon and Warren Counties will be offering a five-week intensive "Pasture Management Short Course" featuring a "hands-on" program of selected workshops and lectures. Pasture management issues from stocking rates, rotational grazing, soil sampling, nutrient management, seed types, seeding, stand evaluation, weed control, toxic plants, and numerous other forage related issues will be discussed over the session term.

The program will take place in the evening from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the Clarion Hotel, Phillipsburg, located at the last exit in New Jersey on I-78. The series is scheduled for April 2, 16, 30, May 14 and May 28 and will cost $100 per person for the entire session, which will include two soil test kits, The Weeds of the Northeast manual, handouts, instructional materials, and evening refreshments. Husband/wife or owner/manager teams can register and attend as one person, but will only receive one set of materials.

Registration is required and information and registration forms can be acquired by calling either (908) 788-1338 or (908) 475-6503.

Dairy Nutrition, Health Seminar April 1

MEADVILLE (Crawford Co.) — Agway Feed & Nutrition is sponsoring a free seminar, Tuesday, April 1, for dairy operators that are concerned about herd health. The Dairy Nutrition & Health Seminar will be held at Perkins Restaurant in Meadville from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Lunch is included as part of the seminar.

Feature presenters are Gerald Bertoldo, DVM, Agway Feed & Nutrition's technical support veterinarian; Dana I. Harvatine, MS, Agway Feed & Nutrition's dairy technical support specialist; and Aaron Kozak of Westway Feed Products.

Bertoldo will discuss calf health, while Harvatine will address weaning and management issues, and Kozak will address the nutrition needs of growing heifers.

To register for this seminar, call Agway Dairy Nutrition Specialist Kent Penland at (717) 816-1994 or Diane Porter at (800) 864-1493 by March 28.

Calf summary Compared to last week, slaughter calves sold fully steady Holstein bull calves suitable for special-fed veal barns kicked off the week trading weak to sharply lower However, someone poured gas all over the late week demand and through a match on it as prices were sharply higher The 90-125 lb bulls had been trading in the 110 00-150 00 range, until Thursday's run where they sold from 150 00-205 00 The Holstein heifer supplies are not near as heavy as they were only a couple short months age However with prices for the fancier 90-125 pounders dipping into the mid to upper 100 00 range, many producers are reluctant to bring them to town The heifers tested this week sold with a lower undertone This week the PA Department of Agriculture graded 1024 head of calves for the two graded sales held in Lancaster County

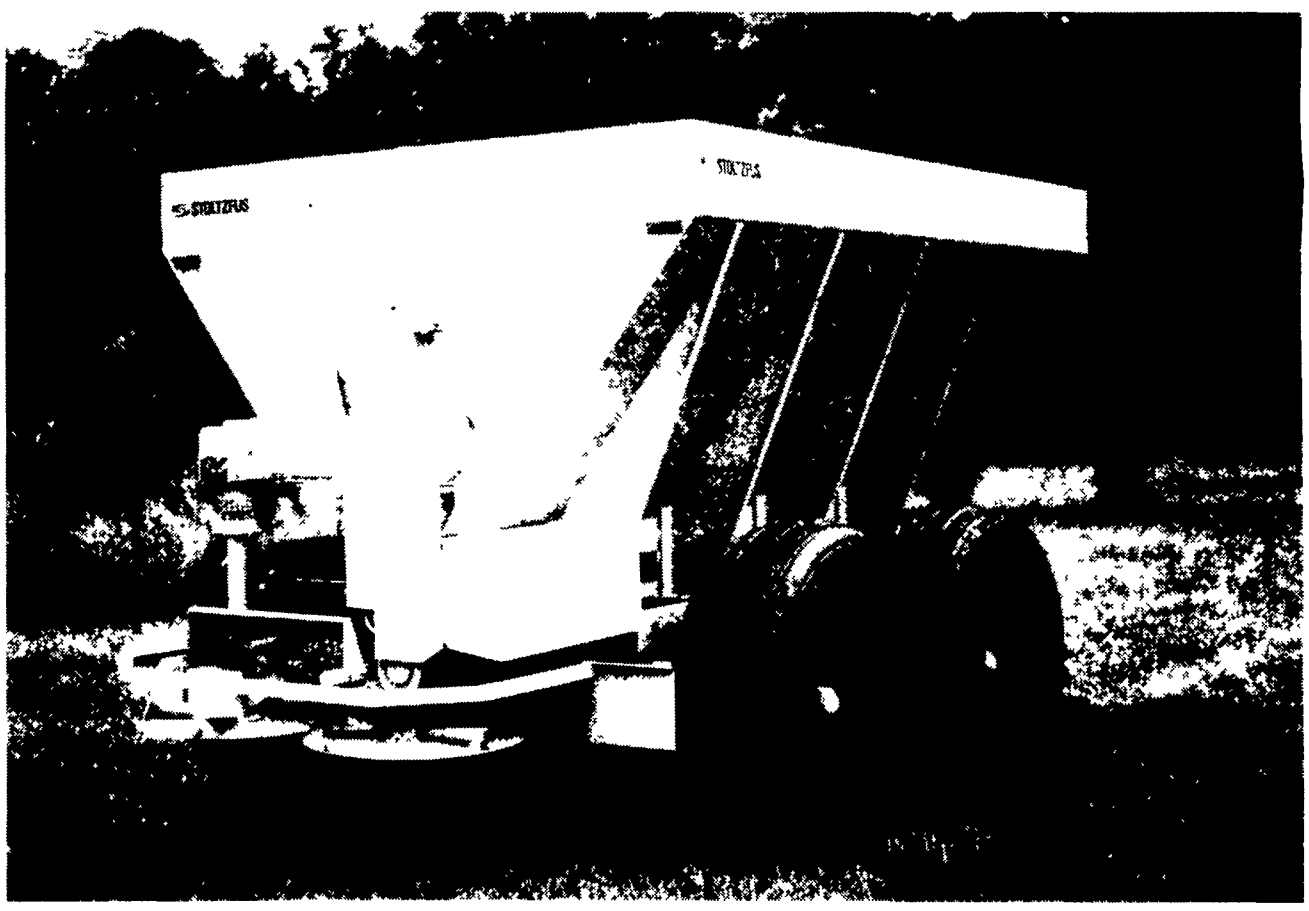
It's Time To Lime!



When spreading stockpiled lime, for example. The Stoltzfus Wet Lime Spreader is likely the most powerful spreader of its kind on the market today. You see, we've been building them since 1945, and farmers are still using Stoltzfus Wet Lime Spreaders they've had for 20, even 30 years. Our special drag chain is 4 times stronger than stainless steel, and handles frozen and heavy stockpiled lime with ease. Plus for spreading compost, composted sludge, poultry litter and certain fertilizers, the WLS is without equal for sheer volume spreading.

Cut your fertilizer bill by liberating nutrients tied up by acid soil.

Use Lime.

- Two-ton, five-ton, eight-ton models
- PTO, 540 rpm or 1,000 rpm
- Two-speed conveyor chain
- Leaf spring suspension
- Dual 24" spinners
- Spreads 40' effectively

"Profitable Milk Production Starts with Super Forage"

Mara Perennial Ryegrass

Crank up Milk Production with Mara

A Proven Ryegrass
MARA Pr. RYEGRASS

- Fast Establishment
- Excellent Winterhardiness
- Better Summer Performance
- Improved Persistence

BARENBRUG

Mara establishes quickly and is a key ingredient in many of our locally developed mixtures including King's Grazing Mix and Dairy Plus. Mara was bred in Romania where winters are cold and summers are dry. The result is a tougher perennial ryegrass that can stand up to harsher climates. Mara and other ryegrasses are hard to dry and are recommended for both grazing and balage. Plant in deep fertile soils.

A King's AgriSeeds Exclusive

DAIRY PLUS

Our most palatable mix. A blend of perennial ryegrasses including Mara and Barfort. Also includes Barliza Timothy, and clovers including Alice White Clover. Your cows will dive into this mix increasing their dry matter intake which will result in serious milk production. All varieties are adapted for both grazing and balage. Dairy Plus should be planted in deep fertile soils

Quilts On Parade

Pennsylvania Relief Sale Presents Quilts For Preview

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — More than 70 quilts created an artistic display recently at the Mennonite Central Committee's Material Resources Center (MRC) in Ephrata.

The quilts were a preview to the 47th annual Pennsylvania Relief Sale, April 4-5, in Harrisburg at the Farm Show Complex.

According to MRC director Leone Wagner, "this preview not only gives us a chance to showcase the quilts but to provide information about quilting and show how the sale of the quilts will benefit many people around the world."

Throughout the year, groups of Mennonite, Brethren in Christ and Amish quilters volunteer to craft the quilts that are then auctioned at sales across the United States and Canada. The sales benefit the MCC. This year, the sale features more than 370 quilts.

Previously the quilts were displayed at the Ten Thousand Villages store in Ephrata. The new facility provided a larger venue for the quilt display.

Quilters created more than 120 of those quilts at the MCC, where they were displayed.

According to quilt preview literature, "this must be the year of the log cabin quilt... there have been more Log Cabin quilts and wall hangings donated for this year's quilt auction than any other pattern."

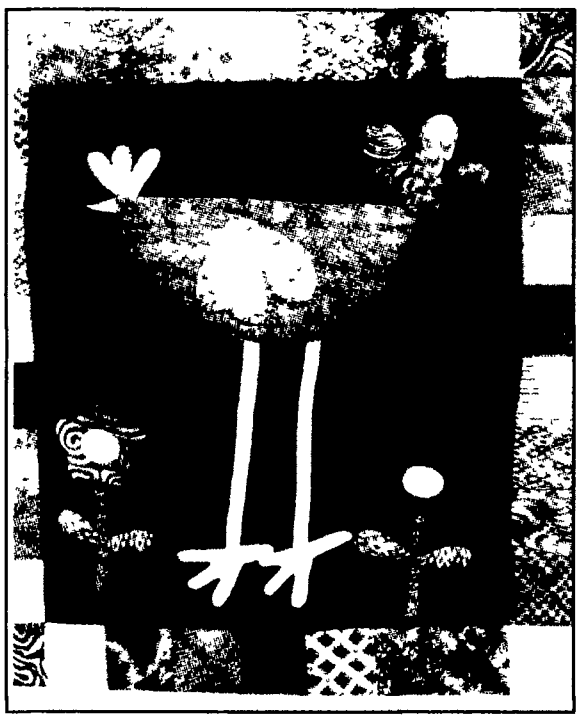
The pattern is a traditional method of piecing blocks that features long narrow strips of fabric in concentric squares.

For more information about the quilts, contact Leona Wagner at (717) 733-2847.

The MCC's relief sales or festivals are usually conducted over a weekend and often include an auction of everything from quilts and artwork, to wooden toys and antique cars as well as food stands, children's activities, musical entertainment, hands-on projects and local specialties.

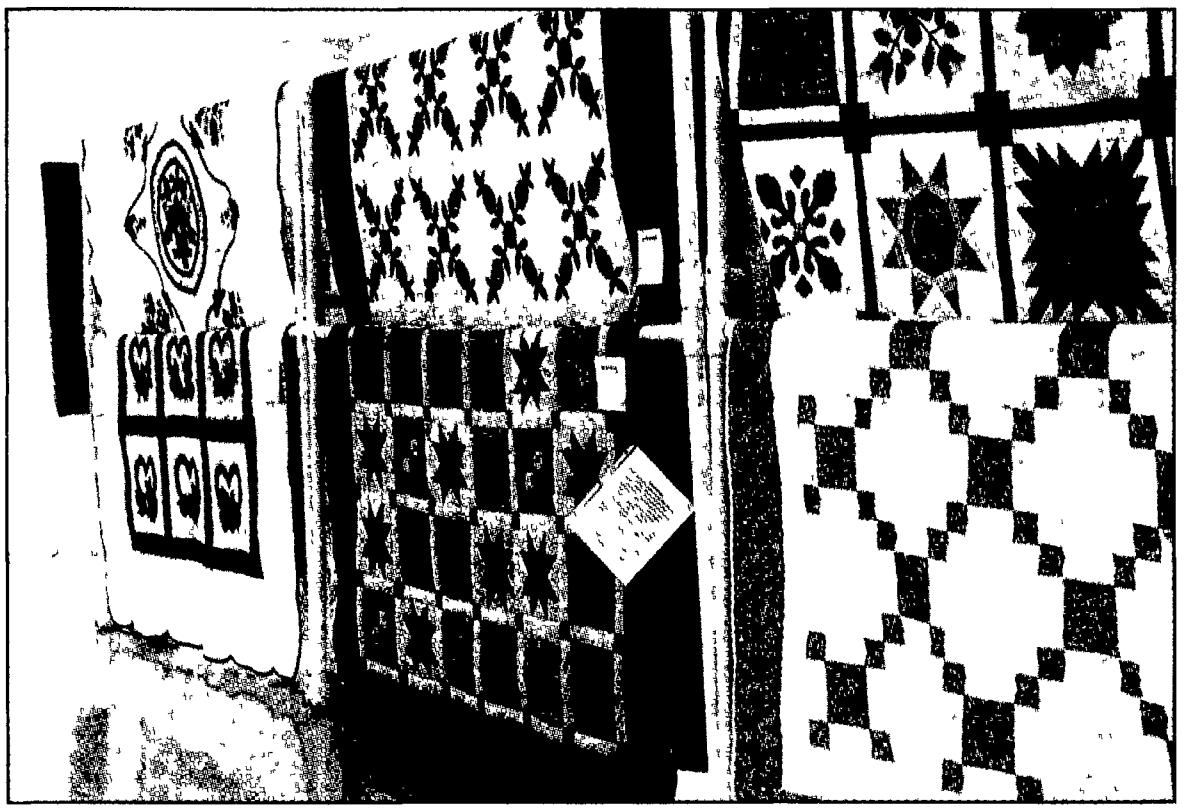
From February through November, 46 relief sales will take place in 23 U.S. states and five Canadian provinces. These sales are expected to generate more than $4 million for MCC programs.

The MCC is a relief, service, and peace agency of the North American Mennonite and Brethren in Christ churches. The organization reflects the biblical call to care for the hungry and thirsty, the stranger, the sick and those in prison (Matthew 25:35-36). Founders began the agency in 1920.



At left, Sandra Fulton donated this long-legged "Chicken." At right is an example of the Pennsylvania German "fraktur," the decorative, broken style used to illustrate birth, wedding, or other certificates. Hearts, vines, flowers, and birds such as this one were often included in the design. Mollie Peachey created this "Fraktur Birds" quilt.

These little piggies went to market... to benefit the Relief Sale. Rachel Horst and Marie Eby teamed up to create "Crazy Pigs."



1. According to quilt preview literature, "these quilts are gifts of love given in the name of Christ so that others may have relief from hunger, so they may know the satisfaction of work, so that healthcare is provided."

What Needs Hands To Paint?

Determination Charts Way To Success

LOU ANN GOOD

LEOLA (Lancaster Co.) — Not many 22-year-olds operate a thriving business, especially if they are artists.

Although David Nolt's artwork is marketed worldwide, he is modest about the success.

"I'm still learning," he said of painting with oils.

Learning, perseverance, and determination are qualities which have enabled him to find his niche in the world.

David was born with arthrogryposis, a condition that causes joints in his body to contract so tightly that any movement of his arms, legs, and hips is severely limited.

Arthrogryposis kept his limbs from forming normally. He had little movement in his arms, and David Nolt's artwork is marketed worldwide through Mouth and Foot Painting Artists. He enjoys working on a wide variety of subjects, such as this one depicting the Lord's Prayer, one of a series of seven.

On Being a Farm Wife
(and other hazards)

Joyce Bupp

For awhile there, it was almost as if they had ceased to exist.

Oh, occasionally we'd catch a glimpse of them. Maybe some would turn up way back in one of the (nearly empty) hay mows. Or we'd catch a glimpse of a couple flying overhead. Sometimes it would be their calls from out behind the barns.

For much of the frozen-over, snowed-in, iced-up past months, the smaller animals and birds that live around the farm, domestic and wild, hunkered down to wait out the worst, as best they could. A myriad of criss-crossing tracks, fox and rabbit, squirrel and bird, attested that they were getting on with life, despite having to hop, jump, and wade through the drifts.

Most of the tamest cats, of course, showed up as always for chow at calf feeding hours. The less-tame would sneak out from the more shadowy corners of the hay mows, once dinner was served and they felt comfortable that us humans had departed. The deep drifts did deter the feline "porch perchers" from hanging out at the back door, waiting to snitch bites from gentle Derra's meals as they like to do. Not that they can get many bites in during the five seconds it takes her to scarf down a dish of dog-food.

Thick ice seals on all of the ponds discouraged visits by the ever-growing flock of Canada geese that claims the meadow as home. When fields highest on the hills began drying enough in recent weeks to support manure hauling equipment, all the meadow geese arrived — and apparently brought all their relatives. Bits of grain and seeds in the straw-bedding manure spread an offering of protein at a time when natural food was scarce and inaccessible.

What a honking good time they seemed to be having.

Now a good two-dozen or so regulars squabble and chatter in goose talk day and night. They're jostling for nesting sites, slopping and poking through the meadow mud, and flapping back and forth to the grain fields to dine on tender shoots of grassy clumps just coming out of dormancy.

Keeping the honkers company are the quackers which, about mid-January, suddenly moved in and claimed squatters' rights to the goldfish pond. With the underground spring which feeds it back to full flow, a large section of that pond remained open through the coldest nights. That gave our flock of 20-plus mallard ducks a safe and sheltered haven.

After accidentally spooking them a couple of nights after dark, Derra and I rerouted our evening strolls to the road until some of the other ponds began melting out. Most of that time, either the snow or the mud was too deep around the ponds anyway to walk with sense. The ducks were pleased.

Now, along with the honking and the quacking, we have gobbling.

That addition vocal section to our spring chorus comes from the handsome suiter The Farmer acquired as a companion to our two "wild" turkeys, one original hen and the daughter she hatched and raised last spring. "Wild" by bloodline only, their favorite food is calf feed — and they show up like clockwork each morning for a handout.

The gobbler, another pen-raised "wild" turkey, sulked alone in the barn when he was first introduced. Although the hens promptly took to trutting and preening so he could se how lovely they are, the old bird eventually took up with a trio of ancient bantam chickens, more wild than the turkeys.

One afternoon last week, though, I glanced out the road while retrieving the mail and was astonished to see all three turkeys, streaking down through the fields toward the woods. Good news, I figured, was that they had bonded. Bad news, it appeared, was they were all taking off to the woods together. A half-hour later, doing a visual check for their whereabouts and expecting to see nothing, instead I spied a turkey tail just disappearing behind the barn.

The hens are back to showing up faithfully each morning for calf feed handouts. The gobbler has returned to his bantam gang. But he's been spotted all puffed up, strutting and gobbling, and probably not for the benefit of the nasty bantam rooster.

With squawling cats, honking geese, quacking mallards, gobbling turkeys, chirping robins and, any moment we expect, the peeping of the peeper frogs, our animals have fared better through the winter than the contestants they boot out weekly on those TV "survivor" shows.

And, from the sound of all the racket out there, are getting ready to double their numbers.

For Young Artist, Determination Charts Way To Success

doctors said he would never walk.

But David's bright and curious mind found alternate ways to accomplish things. When he was two years old, David picked up a crayon with his mouth and drew circles and blocks on the wood flooring.

His parents, Elvin and Lydia Nolt, didn't realize that conquest would lead to a subsequent artistic career. But they lauded his every achievement and did whatever they could to help him become independent.

"It was difficult sometimes to watch him perservere. Sometimes he wanted to do things that I thought were impossible for him to do," his mother recalled. "But I always tried to encourage him and not prevent him from trying."

They diligently performed physical therapy on his curled feet. His mother explained, "Our muscles and tendons contract similiar to rubberbands, but David's are more like a string, and they do not stretch no matter how much therapy is performed."

After numerous surgeries and years of physical therapy, David achieved limited walking ability.

Brought up in the old-order Mennonite faith, David attended a one-room schoolhouse. His classmates and five older siblings walked to school. When David got older, he wanted to walk instead of riding in the family's horse and buggy. He finally convinced his parents to let him try.

His mother said, "He needed to walk across the field, which is uneven ground. If he fell, he could not get up by himself because he didn't have enough movement and strength in his arms and legs. I really didn't want him to try."

David's older sister was also concerned. So she followed at a discreet distance for about one week. Then David said, "You can quit following me."

David's persistent independence continued to amaze people.

But David sees nothing unusual about his determination. He said, "I never knew anything else. I just did it (whatever needed to be done)."

David said that he was 15 years old before he considered the possibility of painting for a living. At first he used pencil and watercolors. When he was 17 years old, David tried oils, which he prefers.

Several years ago, David submitted his work to Mouth and Foot Painting Artists Inc. (MFPA), an international organization founded by German artist Erich Stegmann in 1956.

In addition to contributing artwork to the Mouth and Foot Painting Artists, David also sells from his home studio.

"I paint everything," David said of not limiting his work to one genre.

His work includes farm scenes, still life, scenery, people, and elaborate wedding certificates and family records.

He likes the freedom of working on subjects that interest him. At present, he is thrilled to be working on a series of seven canvases depicting the Lord's Prayer. No one asked him to do the series.

David said, "It was something I thought I'd like to work on. I won't sell the pictures separately. Only as a set."

He works a minimum of 8 hours a day on his artwork. He said, "I work 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. because if I didn't keep set hours, it would be too easy to keep postponing work."

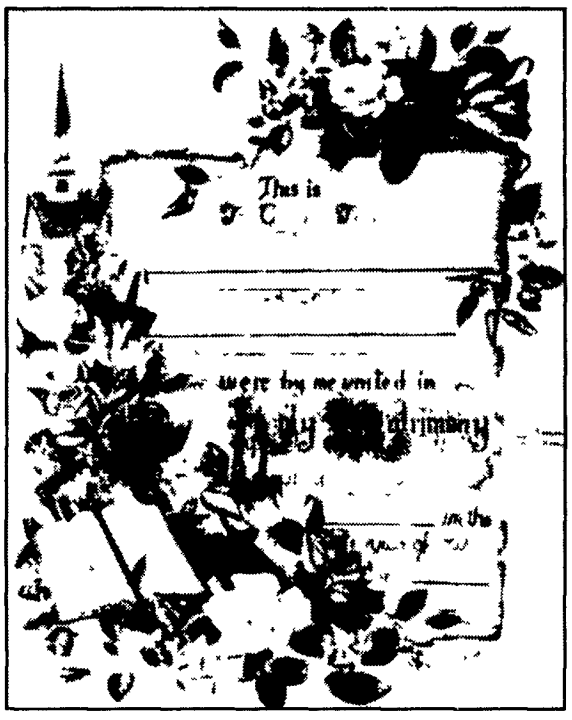
He considers the most difficult aspect of painting as balancing the composition. He mostly enjoys the painting process.

He also enjoys photography. He takes a photograph of his artwork at the end of each day to chronicle his work. He also does custom framing for other people.

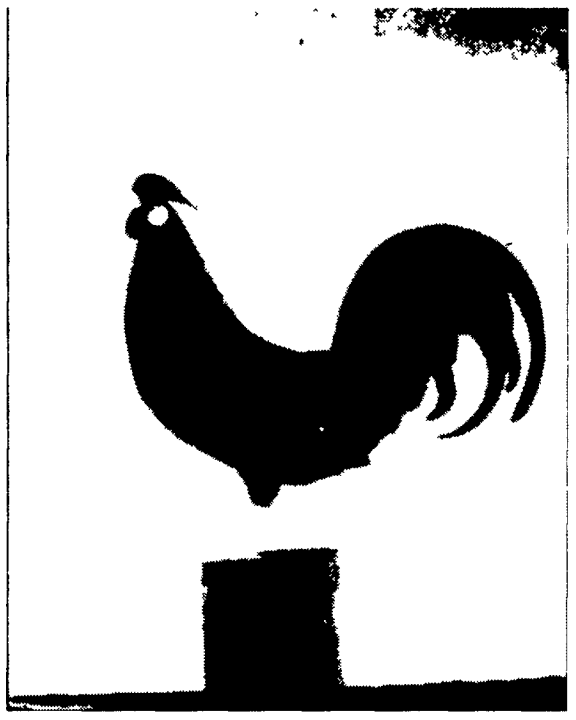
"I have any type of frame people need," he said of his collection.

Although David did not join his parents' old-order Mennonite church, he said that Christian faith is important to him. He is a member of Pleasant Valley Mennonite Church.

For a brochure of David's work or to contact him, call (717) 656-2530.



Nolt also designs framed wedding certificates. His work also includes still life, scenery, people, and family records.



David works a minimum of eight hours a day on his artwork. He takes a photograph of his work at the end of each day to chronicle the progress.

David draws farm scenes reminiscent of his boyhood home.

David says that he was 15 years old before he considered the possibility of painting for a living.

"Bringing Allis Home" features farm and tractor stories that took place on a farm near Jelloway, Ohio, in the '40s and '50s with an Allis-Chalmers WC. Part II of the book provides the aging story-teller's account of restoring a '48 Allis-Chalmers WD and returning with it to the old home farm that is now owned by Amish. Healthy Eating — Healthy You

After a long, cold winter, spring has finally arrived. Along with the robins and thoughts of summer vacations, we celebrate National Nutrition Month in March.

The theme this year is "Healthy Eating — Healthy You." Goals are to make informed food choices, develop sound eating habits, and participate in regular physical activity.

Our health is strongly influenced by what we eat. Our bodies need more than 50 nutrients to function well. No single food contains all the vitamins and minerals necessary to maintain the energy and vibrant health that allows us to pursue a meaningful lifestyle.

Although there is some talk of revising the Food Guide Pyramid, it is still a valid model for healthy eating. To maximize the benefits to enhance health, individualize choices to your needs and preferences while utilizing the following strategies:

1. Eat the minimum number of servings from each food group. Consume at least 6 servings of grains, 3 servings of vegetables, 2 servings of fruit, 2-3 servings of milk products, 2 from the meat group, and small amounts of fats. Intake on a particular day may vary, but overall intake over a period of time should balance out. If you have a busy schedule and miss out on vegetable intake one day, plan a vegetarian meal for dinner the next. You may have a baked potato topped with broccoli and cheese, carrots, a salad, and bean soup.

2. Make healthier choices within each food group. Choosing a bowl of oatmeal for breakfast versus a doughnut, nonfat milk or yogurt versus those made with whole milk, or broiled flounder (1 gram fat) versus prime rib (80 grams of fat) can make a huge difference in your total calorie and fat intake for the day.

3. Watch portion sizes! Servings both at home and in restaurants have increased tremendously over the past decades. Plates get bigger and bigger. Our lunch plate of today is the size of a dinner plate 30 years ago. Restaurants serve entrees that could serve a family! Recent studies by Dr. Barbara Rolls of Penn State University found that putting a larger portion of food on a plate or in the serving bowl resulted in eating more of the food. So ask for a doggie bag and have another meal free, or prepare smaller amounts of food and save money as well as maintaining a healthier weight. There's nothing to lose!

4. Eat healthy snacks. Take foods with you in the car or to the office so you are not dependent on the office supply of doughnuts or vending machine candy bars and chips. Fruit, nuts, graham crackers or baby carrots provide nutrients as well as fewer calories.

5. Increase intake of foods with fiber. Most Americans consume only 10-12 grams of fiber a day instead of the recommended 25-30 grams. Dr. Rolls also found that fiber-rich foods result in feeling fuller for a longer period of time, decreasing the incidence of overeating calories. Fiber is also necessary to maintain colon health and decrease blood cholesterol and blood glucose levels. The milk and meat groups (except for nuts and beans) do not contain fiber. Neither do sugars or fats. Eating lots of fruits (not juice), vegetables, and whole grains is the way to go.

6. Read labels! In our world of highly processed and fast foods, it is the only way to make informed choices. Depending on your goals, you may want to focus in on total calories, total fat, saturated fat, sodium, fiber or specific vitamins and minerals. Fat free is not calorie free — fat free desserts may contain more calories than the original version — a problem if you are working toward weight maintenance. Cholesterol-free does not mean the food is healthy for your heart. Look at total fat and saturated fat. They both affect your blood cholesterol. Buy foods higher in fiber. Some cereals have less than one gram of fiber, while bran cereals have 9 or more. Many "juices" are primarily sugar water and may contain only 10 percent juice. Look for 100 percent juice products.

As we celebrate the 30th anniversary of National Nutrition Month, resolve to be a wise consumer and reap the benefits of better health, as well as good taste. A healthy diet does not mean elimination of all sweets and fats — small portions of desserts or an occasional piece of fried chicken can fit into your menu plan.

Stay active — turn off the TV and go for a walk, dig in the garden, or dance with a child. Then sit down to a big bowl of fresh fruit topped with lowfat yogurt!

LOST STREAM MAP

The STREAM MAP OF OHIO resembles another map--known to Pennsylvania anglers as the "Lost Stream Map "

The "Stream Map of Pennsylvania" was completed in 1965 after a 30 year effort by Howard Higbee, a former Penn State Professor

Professor Higbee succeeded in creating a map of the highest detail possible a map that shows every stream and lake He painstakingly plotted by hand, the location of 45,000 miles of streams onto a 3 by 5 foot map

The map sold extremely well - until it was lost several years later Incredibly, the printer entrusted with the original drawing and printing plates declared bankruptcy, then carelessly hauled Higbee's 30 years of work to the landfill

The few remaining dog-eared copies became a prized fisherman's possession. Professor Higbee was offered $400 for one of his last maps. And state agencies were forced to keep their copies under lock and key

The experts had always told Professor Higbee that reprints were impossible, because the maps were printed in non-photographic blue

Then, in 1991, at the age of 91, Howard Higbee's dream came true Computers made it possible to reprint the map Holding an updated map, Howard said, "I never thought I'd live to see this day "

Then, by combining Professor Higbee's knowledge with computer technology -- the STREAM MAP OF OHIO was created

Try Adding Curry, Cardamom, Or Coconut To Spice Up Your Cooking

MICHELLE KUNJAPPU
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANGHORNE (Bucks Co.) — Heady aromas of sauteed garlic, mustard, or chili powder may not be a part of every American's kitchen, however they are familiar smells to southern Asian families.

These pungent scents and spicy tastes have been a part of Maria Kunjappu's kitchen for many years.

Kunjappu, Langhorne, now has experience cooking Indian food, however most of her practice came after she had left her home country of India.

Kunjappu, who grew up with the Indian name Ponnamma George in Kerala, India — the southern part of the country, a tropical area — is the oldest of four brothers and three sisters.

"I didn't really cook when I was home," said Kunjappu, who, although she remembers watching her mother, Marykutty, cook and clean, left the cooking responsibilities to a younger sister who had more interest in culinary arts.

After graduating from high school, she traveled to Delhi to study nursing, where she worked as a nurse for a year after graduation.

Denmark was next on her list, as she, who "always liked to travel," applied to an exchange program and went to the country to work for a year and a half and traveled to such destinations as Sweden and Rome.

She had always wanted to see America, so New York became her next destination.

After a short time in New York, cousins in the Philadelphia area welcomed her into their home and "once I settled, I knew I was going to stay," in America, Kunjappu said.

After moving to the Philadelphia area in September she met her husband, Jose, through her cousin's family, and the two were married in December 1975.

Once she settled in the U.S., Kunjappu, who "had an idea" of how to cook several Indian dishes but needed details, which she learned from friends and as she asked for recipes.

"I knew some things so I called and asked friends questions" to learn the art of Indian cooking.

Learning American dishes came later, and Kunjappu quickly learned to appreciate the ease of preparing American fare.

"The rice is OK, but you have to sautee, stir, and grind the ingredients" of Indian dishes, she said.

A typical Indian kitchen includes such spices as chili powder, coriander, cardamom, cinnamon, cumin, cloves, fennel seed, ginger, garlic, tamarind, turmeric powder, onion, mustard seed, black pepper, curry leaves, and coconut.

Some of these spices are used for both entree and dessert dishes, such as coconut or cardamom.

Raisins, cashews, or carrots may also be used in both dinner and dessert.

In India, mango, jackfruit, and several varieties of banana trees in the family's backyard yielded fruits for her family — a sweet treat to complement their diet of rice and fish.

"We lived in front of the river, and my father used to catch fish, so we ate fish a lot," she said. Festivals, such as Easter celebration, were also a highlight, as the Christian family would enjoy meat dishes such as beef.

Since fresh vegetables, fruits, and fish were readily available, Kunjappu's father, George, who did the grocery shopping, made the trip to an open market for fresh meat or other items once a month.

Because of the heat, "we never had cheese," said Kunjappu, who grew up without a refrigerator. The little cheese the family ate was made from yogurt.

Dairy products, however, were also a staple of the family's diet as "we always had a sheep or two" and occasionally a cow for fresh milk twice daily.

"If we didn't have a cow we bought milk from neighbors who had cows," she said.

Although cow's milk is available, "sheep milk is really tasty," asserts Kunjappu, who also ate "a lot of yogurt" growing up and still uses it often in her cooking at home.

Yogurt was eaten plain or mixed with a little water and spiced up with crushed ginger, onion, pepper, and curry leaves before it was poured over warm rice.

"We made it every day," she said. One tablespoon of yogurt, used as a starter, is added to milk after it is boiled and then cooled to lukewarm temperature. This will produce more yogurt by the next morning.

Chai, or tea, is a fixture in India, as the drink is an essential part of Asian hospitality. According to Kunjappu, "there are a lot of varieties of tea" in the country.

"When people come, it's a routine thing to offer them tea or coffee," she said, adding that many of her Indian neighbors had access to fresh coffee beans growing in their backyard.

When the weather is too hot, however, to serve tea, lemonade — squeezed from fresh lemons grown on trees in the backyard — is also a refreshing treat.

Breaking the vermicelli — a thin noodle made of wheat flour and water — is one of the first steps in making payasum.

Preparing Indian food at home does not have to mean hours of grinding, chopping, and dicing.

The variety of Indian food products available in grocery stores makes the unique flavors of India accessible to the busy cook.

Here is a quick and easy recipe for a typical dessert from southern India, the creamy "payasum."

PAYASAM

1 pack vermicelli
4 whole cardamom, crushed
1 cup water
1 can sweetened condensed milk
2 tablespoons butter, divided
¼ cup cashews
¼ cup raisins
1 tablespoon flaked coconut, or more if desired

Warm one tablespoon butter in a cooking pot. When it begins to melt, break the vermicelli into small pieces and fry it, then add crushed cardamom and one cup water. Cook for 5-10 minutes then add condensed milk and more water if it is too thick (it should have a soup-like consistency). Take it off heat.

Fry cashes, raisins, and coconut with remaining one tablespoon butter.

Pour it into the vermicelli mixture. Ready to serve.

Whole cardamom are ground with a mortar and pestle before they are added to the mixture.

Change Up Your Mealtimes With Unique Flavors From India

Hamburgers, hotdogs and pizza will always be standard fare, but why not add some spice to your culinary life?

Indian cuisine holds an array of flavors as vast as the country itself. The flavors and fragrances unique to Indian cuisine come from the use of a variety of spices, including cilantro, cardamom, turmeric, cumin, fennel and fenugreek.

Vegetarian dishes are very popular throughout India, but Indians also cook with a variety of meats, poultry and seafood.

Often times, the meat is cooked in a "masala" or sauce that is made from a blend of spices and usually contains tomatoes and other vegetables such as peppers and onions.

Rice is the main accompaniment to a meal, but a variety of other accompaniments are also popular, including breads such as naans, chapatis and the ever-favorite pappadum — a crispy lentil chip similar to a tortilla.

Traditional garnishes include chutneys and "pickle," which are dips made with fruit, spices and vegetables.

Dishes from southern India tend to be very hot and spicy and are traditionally served with rice, while recipes from northern India have more subtle and mild flavors and are served with breads made from wheat and other grains.

North Indian cuisine is also known for meats and breads cooked in a clay and brick oven called a tandoor.

Many people believe that preparing Indian cuisine at home means hours of grinding spices, chopping meats and dicing vegetables, but making an Indian

Curry, Cardamom, Or Coconut Spices Up Cooking

Guests may also enjoy banana chips, tapioca chips, or bought cookies ("we didn't make them because we didn't have an oven"), said Kunjappu.

One of Kunjappu's favorite drinks, however, is the milk from coconuts just harvested from the tree. "It tastes so good from a baby, tender coconut," she said.

Kunjappu remembers drinking the milk and then scraping the soft sweet flesh from inside the shell. Coconut milk or fresh flaked coconut also finds its way into many Indian dishes. Coconuts also were a source of cooking oil.

The tastes of dishes are "very different across the country," according to Kunjappu. The southern part of the country utilizes rice and rice products in many of their dishes, while Indians in the north use wheat flour mixed with water to make a round-shaped "chappati," or "roti," that is warmed and heated with oil on top of charcoal.

Brown rice, parboiled rice (it is boiled in its skin, dried, and then the skin removed), and raw rice are used in cooking.

Following are recipes that Kunjappu frequently prepares:

FISH CURRY

1 pound fresh fish
2 teaspoons oil
¼ teaspoon mustard seed
2 teaspoons onion, diced
2-3 cloves of garlic, diced
1 teaspoon ginger, chopped small
1 teaspoon red chili powder (add after the other ingredients)
2 pieces of tamarind
1 teaspoon salt

Cut fish into several large pieces. In a pan, add salt and water and boil over low flame.

In a separate frying pan, pour the oil and heat the pan. Add mustard seed, then onions, and other ingredients. When the ingredients are browned, add the chili powder.

Mix it, then pour over the fish (drain most of the water) and shake the pan. Do not mix with a spoon. Add a little water and more salt to taste. When it is done (about 15-20 minutes), serve over rice. A can of sardines can be used in place of fresh fish.

UPPUMA

1 cup Rava (cream of wheat)
1 cup water
¼ cup chopped onion (optional)
1 dried red chili pepper (or one hot green pepper)
¼ teaspoon mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoon butter

Heat the pan and boil water in a separate pan.

Pour oil when the pan is hot. Add mustard seed. When the mustard seed pops add onion. When it is brown, add cream of wheat and mix and fry the mixture for a few minutes.

When the cream of wheat is slightly brown, add boiled water and turn the heat to low. Mix well and add butter to it.

When the water evaporates, turn the stove off. Serve as a mixed well with a banana and peanut butter.

This table offers several varieties of meat and vegetable curries for lunchtime fare.

EGG CURRY

3 tablespoons oil
½ cup onion
½ teaspoon ginger
3 cloves garlic
dash mustard, dry powder
½ to 1 teaspoon salt
4-5 tablespoons tomato sauce dash turmeric
½ teaspoon red chili powder
5 boiled eggs

Sautee the first six ingredients in hot oil, then add chili powder and turmeric. Mix in tomato sauce until it has cooked for a few minutes. Add water and boil for a few minutes. Peel the shell from the eggs and slice into halves. Place them into the other ingredients and cook for 15-20 minutes.

FRIED VEGETABLE RICE

1 cup rice
2 cups water
2 tablespoons butter
½ onion, chopped
3-4 cloves of garlic, chopped
1 teaspoon ginger, chopped
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cardamom
¼ teaspoon fennel seed
1 teaspoon salt, or more to taste
¼ teaspoon cumin seed
1 small package mixed carrots and peas

Cook rice, set aside.

Sautee onion, garlic, and ginger in the soil and butter until it becomes dark brown. Add cinnamon, cardamom, and fennel seed to the other ingredients. Mix together, and then add rice.

Fry it for a few minutes, and then add water. Mix salt cumin seed, and vegetable mixture and cover. Cook over medium heat until it is done.

Garnish the rice with raisins, cashews, and onion. Fry them and place them on top of the rice dish.

meal doesn't necessarily require long lists of ingredients, tedious techniques, extended cooking times or even deviating much from your standard grocery list.

With the variety of Indian food products available in grocery stores, such as curry pastes, chutneys and cooking sauces, adding the unique flavors of India into more basic items like chicken and shrimp is simple.

"Exploring the tastes of India shouldn't require extra effort," said Meena Pathak, director of research and development for Patak's Foods U.S.A. "Indian food products, with genuine flavors and on- the-label recipes, are perfect for busy people who want an innovative Indian meal without sacrificing a lot of time."

To begin incorporating Indian flavors into your diet, try serving grilled or baked salmon with Hot Mango Chutney or marinating chicken with Mild Curry Paste before grilling. Both recipes will provide an excellent introduction into the wide range of Indian flavors.

The Indian food products mentioned in these recipes can be found in most major grocery stores, online at www.worldfood.com and by calling 1-800-611-9782.

AAM LHASSI

1 cup diced fresh mango
½ cup orange juice, chilled
3 tablespoons clear honey
2 cups milk, chilled

Combine mango, orange juice, and sweetener in food processor. Blend for 1½ minutes.

Pour milk into processor and process untill it has expanded and become frothy. Add the mango puree. Process for about one minute. Pour into chilled glasses. Garnish with the rose petals if so desired. Serve immediately.

CHAPPATI

1 cup whole wheat flour (or ⅓ white and ⅔ whole wheat)
½ cup water

Put flour in a large bowl with half the water. Blend the two together until it holds. Beat and knead well until it forms a compact ball. Knead dough into it is smooth and elastic and set aside for 30 minutes.

Knead and divide dough into four to six parts.

Roll each ball into a tortilla like flat, about ⅛" thick. Heat an ungreased skillet and lay the rolled out dough on it and let cook for about one minute.

Turn and cook the second side for ⅔ min. until small bubbles form. Turn again and cook the first side pressed lightly with a towel until it puffs.

Serve warm (maybe slightly buttered). Makes 4-6 pieces.

Chappati is the most common bread in north Indian homes. In many homes, it is cooked twice a day along with the meal so that it can show up at the table, right off the fire.

As the rolled out chappatis will dry out if they are left stand while cooking other, roll them out individually before cooking them.

ICED NESCHAI

5 cups water
1 cup Green Tea and Honey flavor sweetened iced tea concentrate ½ cup sweetened condensed milk
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground cardamom
2 cups ice cubes
6 fresh mint leaves, optional

Place water, tea concentrate, sweetened condensed milk, cinnamon, and cardamom in a large pitcher. Stir until combined. Serve over ice. Garnish with mint.

SUN area dairy princess

SPICY MANGO SHRIMP

2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 pound fresh shrimp, peeled and deveined
1 medium onion, diced
4 teaspoons mild curry paste
6 tablespoons water
½ cup fresh chopped tomatoes
1 tablespoon hot mango chutney
1 tablespoon fresh chopped cilantro
Hot, cooked rice

In large skillet, over medium heat, heat oil.

Add shrimp and cook until lightly browned about one minute. Remove shrimp from skillet.

Add onion to skillet and sautee two minutes or until softened.

Add curry paste, water and tomatoes.

Return shrimp to pan. Cover and simmer for about five minutes or until shrimp is cooked through.

Stir in chutney and garnish with fresh chopped cilantro.

If desired, serve over hot rice. Serves four. A variation is to substitute chicken or fish for shrimp.

CHICKEN TIKKA MASALA

2 teaspoons vegetable oil
1 medium onion, chopped
1 pound boneless, skinless chicken breast, diced
15-ounce jar Tangy Lemon and Cilantro Tikka Masala Cooking Sauce
1 (15-ounce) can diced tomatoes
2 tablespoons half-and-half
In a large skillet, heat oil.

Add onion and saute one minute. Stir in chicken and sautee until meat is lightly browned.

Add cooking sauce and diced tomatoes. Bring mixture to boil.

Reduce heat and simmer 20 minutes or until chicken is cooked through.

Stir in half-and-half just before serving. Serve with rice. Serves 4.

A variation is to modernize this classic dish by wrapping the cooked chicken with mixed salad greens in warm tortillas or chappati (Indian flat bread).

VEGETABLE KORMA

1 onion chopped
1 tablespoon oil
¾ cup peas
¼ cup green beans, sliced
¼ cup cauliflower florets
¼ cup sliced carrots
15-ounce jar Korma Cooking Sauce
¼ cup half-and-half cream
4 ripe tomatoes, chopped
Hot, cooked rice

In large skillet over medium-high heat, cook onion in oil for one minute. Add peas, green beans, cauliflower and carrots. Cook three minutes.

Stir in Korma cooking sauce. Cover and simmer 10 to 15 minutes or until vegetables are tender.

Stir in cream and tomatoes. Heat until warmed through.

Serve over hot, cooked rice. Serves 4.

For a heartier option, add two cups cooked beef or chicken.

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a self-addressed stamped envelope. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Check your recipe to make sure you copy the right amounts and complete instructions for making the recipe. Sometimes we receive numerous answers to the same request, but cannot print each one.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address. You may also e-mail questions and answers to LGOOD.EPH@LNPNEWS.COM QUESTION — Pam Bange, Hanover, wants a recipe for cherry vanilla pie (like those sold at Nell's Surefine Market in Hanover and East Berlin. The cherry pie has almond slivers on top and vanilla flavoring.

QUESTION — Help! Recipes to make Easter candy are needed. Instructions should be complete. Paraffin wax is not FDA approved so recipes including paraffin cannot be printed.

QUESTION — Mary Houser, Spring Mills, requests recipes using buttermilk and instructions for interchanging buttermilk with sour milk.

QUESTION — Jean Mitchell, Lewisburg, is looking for a recipe to make blueberry whoopie pies.

QUESTION — J. Howdyshell, Bridgewater, Va., would like to know how to preserve honey. She was given some honey on the comb and would like to preserve it for future use.

QUESTION — A reader would like a recipe for McKinley Pie and any history on the pie.

QUESTION — Nancy Wallace, New Holland, is looking for a place in Lancaster County where she can purchase fresh coconut that is already grated. She needs it to make Easter eggs and fresh coconut cake for Easter. Years ago, she writes, it could be purchased at farmers markets.

QUESTION — Peggy Thoman, Hanover, writes that her church is planning for the first time a pancake breakfast for Easter morning. She would appreciate recipes for various syrups other than the traditional syrups — particularly fruit syrups.

QUESTION — Peggy Wilson, while reading a 1911 Inglenook Cookbook, found recipes that were mixed in a double boiler with boiling water underneath, then put in a fireless cooker. She would like to know what a fireless cooker is. Another utensil that was used to bake breads was called a Gem pan, and she asks, what is a Gem pan?

QUESTION — Eileen Schuler, Fleetwood, asks where chocolate confectioners' sugar can be found. The ingredient was listed in the prize-winning recipe for the Greatest Cocoa Cake contest at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. Several other readers also inquired about this. We asked the person who baked the prize winning cake. She said it can be purchased at Weis Markets in the Adams County area. However, several people who looked for it in other areas, said that Weis did not carry chocolate confectioners' sugar. No problem, according to the champion, Krista Cunningham. She said, "Make your own." She adds about ½ cup baking cocoa powder to a pound of regular confectioners' sugar or more to taste. If any of our readers know where chocolate confectioners' sugar can be purchased, let us know.

QUESTION — Richard Deckner, Quakertown, wants a recipe for a dropped Welsh cookie.

QUESTION — R. Diehl, Bloomsburg, wants a recipe for hamburg pin wheel with gravy.

QUESTION — Shirley Schwoerer, Wysox, wants to know if sesame seeds can be sprouted. She is familiar with alfalfa seed sprouting.

QUESTION — Ralph Kieffer, Halifax, wants a recipe for Aunt Flossie's tomato soup, which he heard is printed in a Lancaster County cookbook.

ANSWER — Peggy Thoman, Hanover, wanted unique syrups to serve with pancakes. Barbara Darby suggests serving flavored butter on the pancakes. Here are an assortment of flavored butter recipes she is sure you will enjoy.

Cinnamon Orange Butter

Cream together ½ cup butter (at room temperature), grated peel of one orange, 2 tablespoons orange juice concentrate, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, and ½ teaspoons cinnamon.

Strawberry Butter — In a blender or food processor, blend together ½ cup butter (at room temperature), 6-8 medium strawberries, washed and sliced, 3 tablespoons powdered sugar, and grated peel of one lemon.

Strawberry Butter Two — Cream 1 pound butter (room temperature) by hand or with electric mixer until light and fluffy. Add 1½ cups strawberry preserves and mix well.

Add ⅓ cup fresh strawberries and mix briefly, just until strawberry pieces are distributed evenly.

Pumpkin Butter — Cream 1 pound butter (room temperature) by hand or electric mixer. Add 1½ cups canned pumpkin, 1 teaspoon allspice and ¼ cup honey for flavoring. Mix well.

Orange Butter — Follow recipe for strawberry butter two, substituting 1½ cups orange marmalade for the preserves and adding 2 teaspoons orange zest (orange part of the peel from 1 small orange) at the end.

Blueberry Butter - Add 1½ cups blueberry pie filling to 1 pound creamed butter.

ANSWER — David Manilla, Worcester, and his family have enjoyed roadside and firehouse chicken barbecues. He would like the recipe for the spray that is applied at several intervals in cooking. He requested a recipe for a non-commercial rub that is not overpowering. Thanks to Mary Ellen Wisler, Waynesboro, for sending a recipe that she writes is very good. She brushes it on with a new paint brush, but it could be sprayed if placed in a sprayer bottle.

Barbecued Chicken

Sauce:
- ¼ pound margarine
- 1 cup vinegar
- ¼ cup water
- 2 tablespoons salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning

Cut fryers into desired pieces or use halves or fourths of chicken. When charcoal is hot and ready for grilling, place chicken on grill.

Combine all ingredients for sauce and heat just enough to melt butter.

When chicken is placed on the grill, cover well with sauce.

Turn chicken after brushing more sauce on everytime you turn (about every 10 minutes).

Allow chicken to grill about 1½-2 hours, depending on size of piece and desired doneness. The more sauce that is brushed on, the better the chicken. Leftovers can be heated in a microwave with more sauce poured over it.

ANSWER — Joyce Shoemaker requested a recipe for caramel pudding. Here is one from Mary Lou Martin, Port Trevorton. She writes that the recipe can easily be doubled or tripled for those serving larger groups.

½ cup brown sugar
- 3 tablespoons water
- 1 tablespoon butter
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon baking soda
- 1 quart milk
- 1 egg, beaten
- ½ cup cornstarch

Put brown sugar, water, and butter in a heavy saucepan and bring to a boil. Add salt and baking soda, boil to hard ball stage. Add all except 1 cup milk (use that to make the cornstarch paste).

Add cornstarch paste when milk is hot. Keep stirring until well combined. Remove from heat and cool.

ANSWER — A reader writes that those who want to know where to buy chocolate coating wafers, a new farmers market has opened at 12025 S. Susquehanna Trail, Glen Rock. The candy stand has a fabulous assortment at reasonable prices. The market is open Thursday and Saturday until 5 p.m. and Friday until 7 p.m. Phone number is (717) 227-8143.

ANSWER — Peggy Wilson, while reading a 1911 Inglenook Cookbook, found recipes calling for graham flour. In the miscellaneous section of the book she found that graham flour was listed as 20 pounds wheat flour, five pounds bran, and 2½ pounds short. Peggy wanted to know what "shorts" are. Thanks to Holly Lutz, Jonestown, who writes that according to research, "short" means just that — not quite the amount. Scant.

ANSWER — For a reader who wanted diabetic recipes, here is one that was tried and liked from Pam Bange, Hanover.

Peanut Butter Dessert (Diabetic)

Crumble Layer:
- ½ cup melted margarine
- 1 cup flour
- ⅔ cup crushed peanuts

Mix and press crumble layer into 9x13-inch baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Cool.

Cream Layer (cream together):
- ⅓ cup peanut butter
- 8-ounces cream cheese
- 8-ounces whipped topping

Spread over cooled crust.

Pudding Layer (beat together):
- 1 small box sugar-free vanilla pudding
- 1 small box sugar-free chocolate pudding
- ⅔ cup cold milk

Beat for three minutes and spread over top cream layer. May also add whipped topping over last layer when ready to serve.

ANSWER — Margaret Koser, Lancaster, sent in these recipes in answer to Albert Condon's request.

Old-Fashioned Molasses Cookies
- 3 cups melted shortening
- 1 quart buttermilk
- 5 pounds Pillsbury flour
- 1 quart Brer Rabbit molasses (green label)
- 4 tablespoons baking soda
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 2 teaspoons ginger
- 1 teaspoon allspice
- 2 cups granulated sugar

Melt shortening, add sugar and molasses. Stir over heat until sugar is dissolved over low heat. Take off, add spices, buttermilk, baking soda, and flour.

Place spoonfuls of batter on a cookie sheet. Brush with one beaten egg on top of each one. Bake at 375 degrees 10-12 minutes. Makes approximately 12 dozen.

Pillsbury flour is a must, Margaret writes. She makes these a lot but never tried to cut down the recipe as the cookies are so good, dark, moist, and delicious. She shares them with friends and family on holidays and they love them.

Soft Ginger Cookies
- 1 cup Brer Rabbit molasses green label
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup sour milk
- 2 beaten eggs
- 5 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon ginger
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon cloves
- 1 cup melted shortening

Melt shortening and cool. Dissolve 2 teaspoons baking soda in sour milk. Mix in order given, let stand 10 minutes, then drop by tablespoons onto greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees 10-15 minutes. Frost with thin powdered frosting. Makes approximately 65.

Hershey Gardens To Open April 1

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Spring is in the air and that means Hershey Gardens is preparing to open for its 67th season, Tuesday, April 1.

Conveniently located on Hotel Road in Hershey, Pa., and with half-priced admission through April 12, Hershey Gardens offers its visitors a chance to enjoy a spacious array of budding trees and shrubs, forsythia, daffodils, and other spring-time blooms all within a tranquil 23-acre setting.

And, this year, Hershey Gardens' renowned tulip display will include 100 varieties of over 30,000 tulips, blooming from mid-April through early May.

Barbara Whitcraft, director of Hershey Gardens, said that visitors often get ideas for their own gardens as they stroll the grounds.

"After this long, cold winter people are eager to get their own gardens started and are ready to enjoy the beauty of spring," she said. "Our themed gardens provide lots of inspiration for home gardening as well as a great way for everyone to celebrate this long-awaited spring."

Hershey Gardens' 2003 season runs from April 1 through Oct. 31. Hours are 9 a.m.-6 p.m. daily (April-Sept.), with evening hours until 8 p.m. on Fri., Sat., and Sun., Memorial Day-Labor Day. October hours are 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Admission is $7 adults, $6.50 seniors 62+, and $4 youth 3-15. Members and children under three are admitted free. The Children's Garden at Hershey Gardens will open June 14.

For additional information, please call (717) 534-3492 or log on to www.hersheygardens.org.

Ida's Notebook

by

Ida Risser

Lately, I've been privileged to drive in other people's cars to visit my husband in Lancaster General Hospital. Sometimes my children drive, or my sister, or a cousin. Now I do have my own older car and it only has 65,000 miles on it. I tell people that it belongs to a little old lady who only drives to church and the grocery store.

Actually, it does take me for a haircut or to the drug store too. It even goes to a travelogue at a nearby high school. Sometimes we travel to other counties to visit relatives. And, of course to nearby farms.

The car that I first learned to drive was a 1931 Chevrolet that my father bought when his first car was more than 10 years old. I even drove his first car which was a 1923 Overland. In later years it was just driven between our farms. I had to crank it to start it and then lift the hood and manually turn off the gas, when it was not running, as it had a leak. It was an open touring car and had snap-on curtains for bad weather.

At the opposite extreme was the new automobile that I drove home from Michigan. The speed limit was 70 miles per hour there, and after I was back in Pennsylvania, it was difficult to drive slow enough to be under the speed limit.

I do not require much from a car. It simply has to start when I want to go somewhere, and stop when I want to stop. However, my car and my husband's car have similar dashboards, which makes it easy to drive either car.

Editor's note: Several readers have expressed interest in sending get-well cards to Ida. Lancaster Farming would be glad to forward your cards and letters to her attention. Send them to Lou Ann Good, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522 and we will be glad to forward them. Thank you.

Apply For Dairy Of Distinction Award By April 15

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Pennsylvania dairy farms are invited to apply for this year's Dairy of Distinction award from the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program Applications must be submitted by April 15

The award is based on the idea that attractive farmsteads enhance consumer confidence in the wholesomeness of milk and stimulate milk sales and public support for the industry Dairies receiving the highest scores in each of 10 Pennsylvania districts will be awarded an 18- by 24-inch Dairy of Distinction sign to display in front of their farm

"This program is run by volunteers and recognizes the hard work and dedication of dairy producers who promote a positive image for the dairy industry," said Mike O'Connor, secretary of the Pennsylvania Dairy of Distinction program and professor of dairy science extension in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

Roadside judging will take place in May. Judges will look at factors that can be controlled by the farmer, such as clean and attractively finished buildings; neat landscaping, ditches, roads and lanes; and well-maintained fences. They also will take into account other aspects of the farm, such as cleanliness of animals,the barnyard, feed areas and manure management.

Winning farms will be notified in late June. Because this is a yearly award, previous winners are reevaluated each year to see if they are still maintaining excellent standards.

To receive an application, call Mike O'Connor at (814) 863-3913 or e-mail him at HYPERLINKmail to. MOConnor@psu edu.

Since 1987, Pennsylvania's Dairy of Distinction Program has recognized more than 700 dairy farms The Pennsylvania program is part of the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program, which also includes New York, New Jersey, and Vermont. Dairies in these states can contact the program secretary in their state for applications.

HOW IS YOUR FARM SCORED?

Awards will be based upon neatness, good maintenance, and other factors, which can be controlled by the farmer Attractive background scenery should not be weighed heavily in judging All judging observations should be made from a vehicle at one or more points on an adjacent public highway (or if farm is off the road, the nearest lane) Judging should give equal consideration to old wood construction and new construction of metal or concrete block

The award program may be used for subsequent advertising or promotion activities for dairy products or dairy farming Farmers who apply for awards agree that, if selected, they will cooperate with these activities and make all reasonable efforts to maintain both the exterior and interior of their properties in an acceptable condition

HOW THE JUDGING WORKS

Judging teams will visit the farms during the month of May Farms will be judged each year as the award is presented on an annual basis Any dairy failing to maintain appearance standards will be asked to remove their sign The Dairy of Distinction signs remain the property of the committee, not the property of the dairy farmer All farms must achieve a compliance score of 90 percent on their Dairy of Distinction score card Your cooperative or milk handler will be contacted to approve your milk quality

RULES FOR THE DAIRY OF DISTINCTION AWARD

1 The Dairy of Distinction sign remains the property of the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program Committee (NEDFBP)

2 The post and bracket shall be supplied by and maintained by the dairy farmer NEDFBP suggests that a wood post 4" x 4" x 12' or iron pipe 2" x 12' be used Posts or pipe should be installed and maintained in true vertical position with 8' above ground Top of the bracket should be lower than six inches from the top of the post In addition, NEDFBP suggests that the sign be mounted in a frame to provide additional stability

3 The sign shall be displayed in front of the dairy at roadside An attractive post and bracket, or other frame shall be used to display the sign No more than three signs should be displayed from the sign frame or post, and all shall be of a style, general size and quality comparable to the Dairy of Distinction sign The sign should be secured on all sides to avoid wind damage

4 Signs shall not be moved to other premises New owners of a Dairy of Distinction farm must apply to retain the sign

5 Replacement of damaged signs shall be at the discretion of the committee

6 No producer shall be charged with scoring or sign expenses

7 The judges decision will be final

8 Judging will take place between May 1 and May 31

9 Farms awarded a Dairy of Distinction sign in previous years will be judged between April 1 and April 30 If they do not qualify they will be rejudged between May 1 and May 31 so they have the opportunity to keep the sign

10 Farms that do not requalify will return the sign to their regional Dairy of Distinction Committee

Dairy of Distinction
2003 Pennsylvania Application

PURPOSE OF PROGRAM

Attractive dairy farms give the consumer greater confidence in the wholesomeness of milk and stimulate milk sales which encourages public support of the dairy industry. The award gives recognition to the dairy farmer for maintaining a well-kept farmstead.

ELIGIBILITY

All Northeast dairy farms producing milk for sale are invited to submit an application for the award. Dairies receiving the 10 highest scores in each of the 21 districts will receive an 18" x 24" Dairy of Distinction sign to be displayed in front of their farm.

Dairy Farmers Support Special Olympics

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, the dairy farmer funded checkoff organization serving dairy farmers in western and north-central Pennsylvania, is proud to be a gold sponsor of Special Olympics of Pennsylvania, reaching Olympic viewers with "got milk?®" messages.

The winter games took place Feb. 25-28 in the Johnstown area and featured competition in a variety of winter sports. The dairy farmer checkoff sponsorship included "got milk?" banners displayed during opening and closing ceremonies, "got milk?" advertising in the official program book, recognition on the Special Olympics of Pa. Web site and on the winter games volunteer shirts.

"PDPP strives to increase the demand for dairy products and recognizes that grassroots promotions, such as the Pa. Special Olympics is a great way to reach our target audiences of mom with kids and kids," says Scott Higgins, CEO for PDPP and the American Dairy Association & Dairy Council Mid East. "Programs like the Special Olympics allow the dairy industry to reinforce the positive message that dairy's powerful package of calcium plus eight key nutrients fuels your body, not just your bones."

Circus Clowns Introduce '3-A-Day For Stronger Bones Campaign'

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Dairy producers are working to address America's calcium crisis and increase dairy consumption through the 2003 launch of "3-A-Day," a multi-year marketing and education program that promotes three servings of dairy a day for stronger bones.

The American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc., in cooperation with Dairy Management Inc. (DMI) launched the check-off funded program, which will work to increase Americans' consumption of dairy products from the current average of one serving per day to three servings per day, as recommended by the USDA Food Guide Pyramid on March 3, 2003. It encourages dairy manufacturers to feature the "3-A-Day" logo directly on their qualified product packaging, which conveys a strong nutritional message at the point of purchase.

America's low calcium intake is recognized as a major public health problem. To address this concern, the American Dairy Association and the National Dairy Council, along with support from health professional partners, launched a multi-year, nutrition-based marketing and education campaign called "3-A-Day of Dairy for Stronger Bones."

3-A-Day of Dairy brings the Food Guide Pyramid to life by providing an easy, actionable message. The 3-A-Day of Dairy logo clearly depicts images of milk, cheese and yogurt. The program will help health professionals teach the public about the bone-building and health benefits of milk, cheese and yogurt.

With two major events in the ADADC Marketing region kids and parents were able to take part in exciting events that included dairy product sampling, milk mustache pictures, and even clowns.

To debut the dairy industry's new 3-A-Day of Dairy program an event was planned in New York City with Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus at Public School 33 in Chelsea. 350 students assembled to learn how eating dairy products can build strong bones and muscles. Three clowns performed balancing and juggling acts, that helped represent the challenge that students have in balancing their diet and juggling all of the activities in their busy schedules.

Clowns from Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus helped launch the 3-A-Day campaign in New York City recently.

Kids from New York City take part in the 3-A-Day campaign launch.

The climax of the show was when the school's gym teacher received three pies in his face for not having milk, cheese or yogurt that morning. The New York Daily News, and WNBC TV covered the event. The students were also treated to a dairy party later at lunch with flavored milk, string cheese, and yogurt.

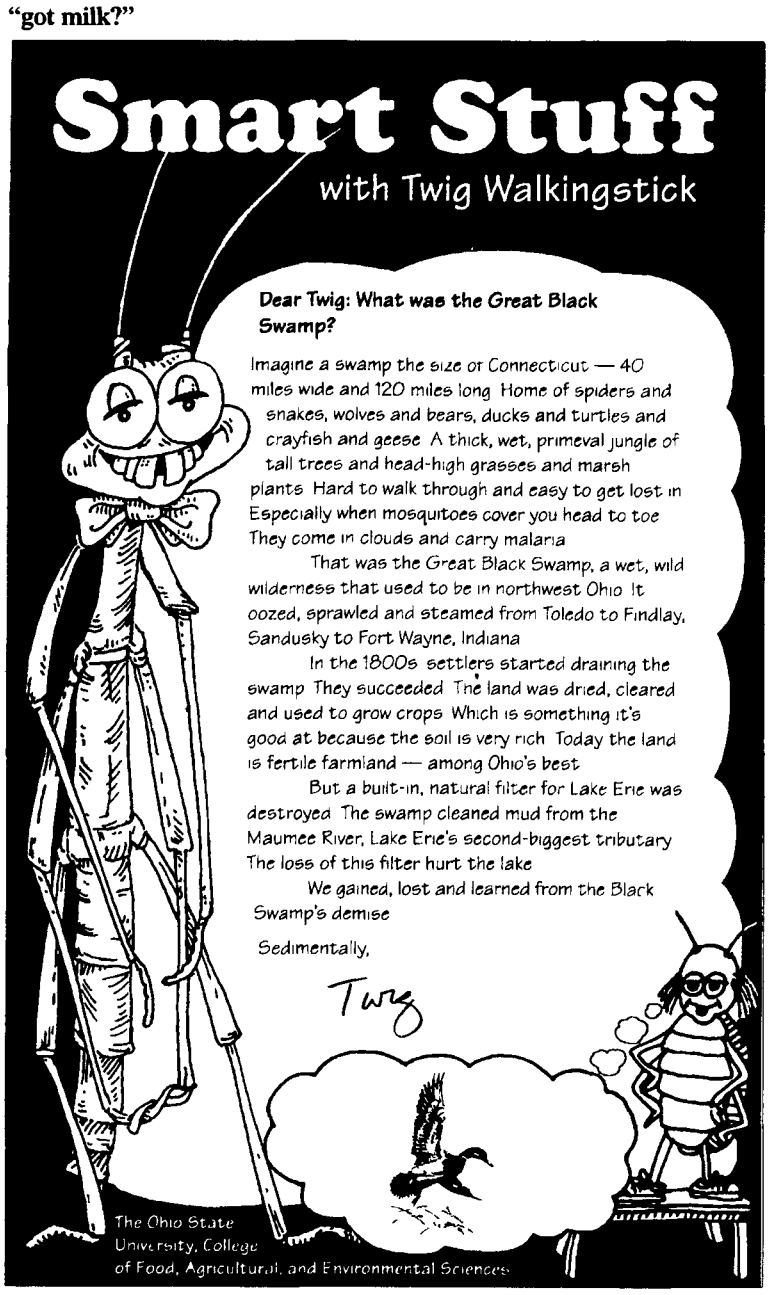
"The event was perfect timing, the circus was in town and kids loved learning nutrition messages through laughter and participation," said Michele McGinley, public relations specialist, American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc.

Rochester's Strong Children's Museum was the site of another launch event which was held March 1-3. The weekend was filled with fun cheese cut-outs, vanilla, chocolate, and strawberry flavored milk tasting, and yogurt parfaits. Kids of all ages were able to visit with the dairy princess as well to learn fun facts about the dairy industry.

According to initial market research, the "3-A-Day" program will help drive demand for milk, cheese and yogurt categories. "3-A-Day" does not replace or diminish the check-off funded "got milk?"

Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus clowns show kids how to balance their diets as well as have fun!

Kids of all ages attend the Strong Children's Museum in Rochester to sample cheese, flavored milk, and yogurt parfaits at the 3-A-Day for Stronger Bones campaign launch.



Smart Stuff
with Twig Walkingstick
Dear Twig: What was the Great Black Swamp?
Imagine a swamp the size of Connecticut — 40 miles wide and 120 miles long. Home of spiders and snakes, wolves and bears, ducks and turtles and crayfish and geese. A thick, wet, primeval jungle of tall trees and head-high grasses and marsh plants. Hard to walk through and easy to get lost in. Especially when mosquitoes cover you head to toe. They come in clouds and carry malaria.
That was the Great Black Swamp, a wet, wild wilderness that used to be in northwest Ohio. It oozed, sprawled and steamed from Toledo to Findlay, Sandusky to Fort Wayne, Indiana.
In the 1800s settlers started draining the swamp. They succeeded. The land was dried, cleared and used to grow crops. Which is something it's good at because the soil is very rich. Today the land is fertile farmland — among Ohio's best.
But a built-in, natural filter for Lake Erie was destroyed. The swamp cleaned mud from the Maumee River, Lake Erie's second-biggest tributary. The loss of this filter hurt the lake.
We gained, lost and learned from the Black Swamp's demise.
Sedimentally,

Pennsylvania Forage and Grassland Council

Foraging Around

2003 PFGC SPRING NEWSLETTER

John Roche is one of two Irish brothers who will share views on untapped grazing potential at the PFGC Grazing Conference March 5 and 6.

Pennsylvania Forage And Grazing Conference Set For March 5-6

Irish Brothers, Genetic Researcher On Slate

GRANTVILLE (Dauphin Co.) — This year's Pennsylvania Forage and Grazing Conference will take place March 5 and 6 at the Holiday Inn in Grantville.

This conference has something for forage producers and graziers at all levels of experience. The conference is sponsored jointly by the PFGC, the Pennsylvania Grazing Research and Education Center, Pennsylvania's Grazing Lands Conservation Initiative, and Penn State Extension.

The first day of the conference kicks off with brothers John and Tom Roche. John works as a grazing researcher/consultant in New Zealand, and Tom manages the home dairy farm in Ireland. These brothers have recently been exploring the possibilities of starting a grazing dairy here in the U.S. Over the course of the conference they will discuss "hands on" experiences as well as differences, similarities, and opportunities of grass farming in the U.S. and around the world.

Other talks on the first day will include topics such as animal genetics for grazing (sure to stimulate discussion), effectiveness of equipment to speed hay drying, keeping and using accurate farm records, large rectangular bale storage and marketing, and health concerns of animals on pasture.

Dr. Steve Washburn from North Carolina State University will be leading the discussion on animal genetics for grazing. The evening of the first day will include discussion sessions between attendees and speakers.

The second day of the conference starts with a look at grazing and family life, impact of the Farm Bill and new regulations on forage and grazing farms, and pasture maintenance. Presentations include recognizing the challenges of grassfed beef, farmer health concerns, and farm liability. The day continues with a presentation by the Roche brothers on grazing opportunities in the Northeast. The conference will conclude with a brief "wrap up" session and awarding of door prizes.

Producers will give many of the presentations during the two-day conference.

The PFGC will conduct its annual reception and awards program Wednesday evening, followed by informal discussions with the day's presenters.

The conference will also include a trade show with com

Holstein Crossbreds Take Grass Into Milk On Berks Dairy

OLEY (Berks Co.) — Nevin Mast has been crossbreeding Holsteins and Jerseys for about 10 years.

"I just like the cross so well," the dairyman said during a pasture walk on his organically certified farm last September.

Mast hosted about a dozen farmers who were interested in seeing his grazing operation. Joining the group was Mena Hautau, Berks County extension agent, and Dr. Steve Washburn, a dairy researcher from North Carolina State University.

Grass and hay are the main source of feed for the 50 cows on Mast's 110-acre farm. He supplements milking cows with 12-14 pounds of grain per day. Heifers between the age of four months and their first calving receive no grain.

Advantages of the Holstein/Jersey cross include easier breeding and calving, hybrid vigor, and greater survivability, according to Mast and Washburn.

'The biggest gains are in the survivability traits,' said Washburn, who studies the benefits of crossbreeding in dairy herds. He predicted that crossbreeds will have an increasing impact on commercial dairy production in the future.

Washburn is one of the speakers slated for the upcoming Pennsylvania Forage and Grazing Conference scheduled for March 5 and 6 in Grantville.

A typical average first-conception rate for purebred Holsteins when using artificial insemination is between 30 and 40 percent. In crossbreeds, that number can reach nearly 50 percent, according to Washburn.

Washburn said dairy farmers need to have a plan when it comes to crossbreeding. The plan should include research ing the fertility of the daugh ters of bulls used in the cross breeding program, and knowing the bulls' production data. While hardiness and reproductive traits are important, production must be a primary goal.

As Washburn put it, "Milk still pays the bills."

In crossbred cows, production levels tend toward the higher-producing breed, he noted.

While Jersey and Holstein genetics make up the main part of the gene pool on Mast's farm, he also enjoys experimenting with different types of crossbreeding. For example, Mast said he recently purchased a White Park bull to breed to some of his heifers.

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Project Grass is on the move.

Last year, the grassroots grassland management group expanded to include every region of Pennsylvania, and has been at work developing new programs to foster grass-based farming and conservation practices in the state.

Last November marked the first ever Project Grass Conference. More than 100 people attended the two-day event at State College.

The conference included presentations on the history of Project Grass — first formed in Southwest Pennsylvania in 1980 research findings on the economic and environmental benefits of livestock grazing.

Perry County Youth Sought For Dairy Promotion

NEW BLOOMFIELD (Perry Co.) — The Perry County Dairy Promotion Committee is seeking males and females ages 6 to 24 to help in the promotion of nature's most perfect food — MILK!

Girls aged 16 to 24 can vie for the title of Perry County Dairy Princess. Girls or boys aged 14 and 15 can serve as a Dairy Ambassador, while girls 12 and 13 serve as a Dairy Maid. Girls aged 9-11 can serve as a Dairy Miss, while girls age 6-8 can serve as a Lil' Dairy Miss.

The age the girl will be on July 1, will determine what position she may hold. All of these positions offer a chance to promote milk and milk products as well as meet many new and interesting people on the local and state level.

Girls are eligible to seek the title of Perry County Dairy Princess if they are a Perry County resident and meet at least one of the following criteria: is a daughter of either a dairy farmer, farm manager or herdsman, or someone employed in a dairy related industry; employed by a dairy related business; have at least 2 head of dairy animals in a 4-H or FFA contest prior to May 1; or was a Dairy Maid or Dairy Ambassador for 1 full year.

The Dairy Princess must be at least 16 by July 1, and will not reach her 24th birthday by Dec. 31. A candidate must have her parent's consent if under 18, be single, never have been married or had children and is not allowed to marry during her reign. She will be eligible to compete for the title of Pennsylvania Dairy Princess at the state pageant in Harrisburg in September.

In order to compete for the title of Pennsylvania Dairy Princess, the Perry County Dairy Princess must attend the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Service's training seminar July 8-11, in Williamsport, PA. All candidates for Perry County Dairy Princess will be required to present a 3 to 5 minute skit and give a 3 to 5 minute speech on the dairy industry or related topics at the Perry County Dairy Princess Pageant to be held June 7, at the Perry Valley Grange, Millerstown.

Dairy Ambassadors and Dairy Maids need to live in Perry County, be a genuine milk drinker and user of REAL dairy products, be the child of a dairy farmer, dairy farm manager or employee, own dairy cattle or be the child, grand-child, niece, nephew, sister, or brother of someone employed full-time in a dairy related industry.

Interested persons must contact the current Perry County Dairy Princess Amber Rock at (717) 789-4121, Patti McLaughlin at (717) 582-4847, or Marel or Peggy Raub at (717) 834-4721, by April 11.

Consuming Thoughts

Did you know that food costs can take up a large part of the family budget?

While food is a necessity, often steps can be taken to decrease the food budget without sacrificing taste and nutrition.

To plan low-cost meals follow these steps: Evaluate family food choices. Do you rely on convenience foods, often eat meals away from home, or frequently choose gourmet or specialty foods? Each of these habits can inflate the money spent on food.

Foods prepared from scratch are cheaper than their convenience counterparts.(Notable exceptions are orange juice and pancake and cake mixes.)

When you choose a convenience food, you are paying for the food, the labor of the person preparing it, and packaging. How many convenience foods could you replace with made-from-scratch versions?

Similar to convenience foods, the price of foods eaten away from home contains hidden labor and 'atmosphere" costs. If family members frequently choose meals at restaurants, cafeterias, or fast food places, you may want to reconsider these habits.

While gourmet and specialty foods can add excitement and variety to your meals, they can also add dollars to the check-out-tape. Plain food may have to be the backbone of your menus for a while.

Watch the meat portions. Meat, fish and poultry are often the most expensive items on the dinner plate. Many Americans eat larger portions of these foods than is recommended. A total of 5 to 7 ounces of meat, poultry and fish per day provides all the protein needed by an adult. Growing teenagers need a little more and children need less.

Your dinner plate should be filled with more vegetables and starch foods (rice, noodles, pasta) than meat. Here are some portion sizes to help you estimate your protein intake. 1 egg = 1 ounce; ¼ cup tuna = 1 ounce; 2 tablespoons peanut butter = 1 ounce;, 1 slice prepackaged luncheon meat = 1 ounce; and a piece of meat, poultry or fish the size of a deck of cards = 3 ounces.

Plan your meals. By planning meals you can take advantage of grocery specials on meat, better utilize the food in your cupboards, and reduce the stress of deciding what to prepare each day. Also plan one meal to eat leftovers. Any food that is thrown out because of spoilage wastes money.

If your family despises leftover vegetables, place a jar or plastic container in the freezer to hold the leftover bits. When the container is full you can make soup!

Buy in bulk and cut your own. If you have a wholesale store nearby, or if your supermarket carries bulk foods, you can often save by buying large quantities.

Another potential savings lies in cutting your own meat and poultry. A top or bottom beef round can be purchased at many supermarkets and you can cut meat at home into roasts, steaks and stew meat. A whole chicken can be divided into legs, breasts, etc.

Instructions for cutting meat can be obtained from your local Cooperative Extension Office.

Specific suggestions for lower-cost foods:

• Meat, poultry and fish: Along with checking the price per pound, consider the amount of waste from bone and gristle. Also remember that although products such as hot dogs and cold cuts seem inexpensive, they contain large amounts of fat and sodium which may not be wise nutritional choice.

• Grain products: Breakfast cereals that are sugar coated, have added raisins and nuts, or have different shapes and colors tend to be higher priced. Stick with plain cereals and add your own nuts and fruits.

"Hot" breakfast cereals are generally cheaper than "cold" varieties. Try oatmeal or other cooked cereals once or twice a week. Buy plain rice and noodles, and add your own sauce (or use a can of creamed soup, but be aware of the extra fat and sodium soups can bring to your meal).

Look for a day-old or thrift bread store. With today's food processing techniques, bread has little loss of quality during the first few days.

• Dairy products: Powdered milk can be used for baking and, along with evaporated milk, can be purchased with coupons or when on special buy and store for future use. Shop around of the best fluid milk price. Surprisingly, one-stop convenience stores often have the best milk price.

• Fruits and vegetables: Buy fresh produce when it is in season. If you have a farm market available, you may be able to save even more by buying in quantity and freezing or canning the extras.

Your local Penn State Cooperative Extension Office has information on seasonal produce and directions for home food preservation.

Echoes From The Past Reverberate In Treasured 'Junque'

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) Ben and Bertha Brubaker salvaged old architecture and incorporated it into exterior and interior decor long before "shabby chic," primitive decor, and recycling were popular.

Today their barn, warehouse, other assorted buildings and grounds brim with "old junque" the Brubakers have "saved" from demolition. Almost by default, the couple's hobby has evolved into a full-time business named Echoes From the Past, a source for people searching for treasured finds.

Cast iron claw-footed bathtubs, leaded glass, weathered shutters in every imaginable style, bubble glass window panes, hand-hewed beams, and roof slate are only a few of the many items stacked in and around the property.

Most amazing is that every one of the thousands of pieces available are carefully inventoried, enabling the Brubakers to give a brief history and price of the item.

"She's the brains and I'm the muscle," Brubaker said of the close partnership he and his wife maintain in running the business.

Bertha said the name of the business was derived from several aspects connected to the property. A huge pond set in the valley behind the barn echoes with calls from Canadian geese. In addition, an old Victrola cranks out sounds from the past that is broadcast on the grounds whenever the business is open. And, of course, the items sold are historical echoes from the past.

Echoes From the Past incorporates several buildings and surrounding grounds to display architectural building materials and everything imaginable recycled from demolition. Here Ben and Bertha Brubaker sit in front of one of the buildings on which a mural has been painted to add a bit of charm.

The Brubakers not only treasure old pieces but they value the history connected to each one. Brubaker points out the difference between beams cut with a pit saw and those with a water-powered saw that predates the 1840s.

In addition to recycled items, the Brubakers offer pressure wash, sand blast, and drip strip services to customers.

Stacks of shutters stored outdoors and indoors include an expansive variety of styles and prices. Brubaker points out that hand-planed styles are of greater value than later ones.

In addition to customers who search for pieces to incorporate into their homes, others want to use them in crafts for themselves and to resell. Old slate roofing, glass knobs, and weathered shutters are quite popular.

Before stepping into the red barn, customers can ring the old-fashioned Victorian-era doorbell.

The Brubakers added what they call their recycled room to their farmhouse-style home. The recycled room uses mostly materials salvaged from Brubaker's homestead that was torn down to make room for Granite Run Industrial Park. Some of the features in the Brubakers' recycled room include a 9-foot 6-inch corner cupboard with arched paneled doors.

"We designed the room around it," Brubaker said.

The stones from the massive fireplace were dismantled from the 1788 barn on the Brubaker homestead. A rope hangs inside from the belfry to allow easy access when Bertha wants to beckon Ben to come for dinner. A barn ladder stretches to the loft above. On the wall, a horse stable door and window opens into an adjoining office. The wooden floors were dismantled from an old creamery, planed, and installed in the room. The room includes furnishings such as the 1800s dry sink from Bertha's home and a Sellers' Hooiser-style cupboard.

Brubaker said that he has been a collector since age 2. He boasts that he still has his old rope bed with its feather ticking and straw mattress on which he slept.

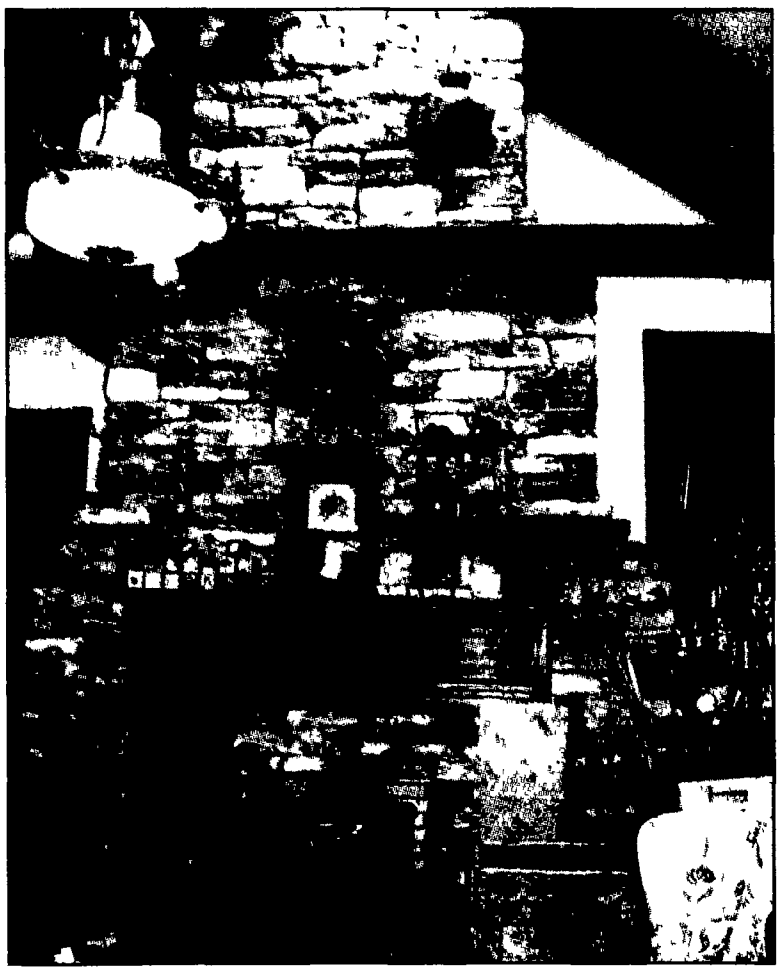
He said that he always tinkered with wood while growing up on his parents' farm. Later he took classes at Steven's Trade School. Brubaker spent 2½ years in Africa, where he developed what he calls a third-world view — to recycle rather than consume more natural resources.

Bertha said that she grew up in a large family where "we learned to make do." That philosophy, she said, is a good energizer to find creative ideas to use what is available.

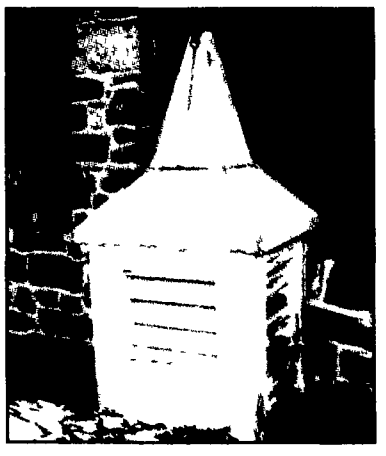
Eventually Brubaker became a builder, but his interest was always in using old architecture rather than new, so he focused on restoration work. The couple often worked together in tearing down old houses, sheds, barns, and other buildings. They also enjoy auctions where they pick up more pieces.

Brubaker is passing on his woodworking skills by teaching 4-H'ers. He is in his 24th year as a 4-H instructor in Lancaster County.

Echoes From The Past, 1495 Lebanon Rd. (Rt. 72), Manheim, is open Tuesday, Friday, and Saturday from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. For more information, call Ben or Bertha at (717) 665-4345.



Restoration in the Brubaker house includes this massive fireplace made with stones and mantle salvaged from the old Brubaker homestead that was demolished to make room for Granite Run Industrial Park.



A cupola salvaged from a Philadelphia building is typical of the many finds among the junque.

Stained leaded glass windows are sure to be a treasured find for someone searching for the right accent in their home.

Stacks of old shutters are displayed outside and inside.

Why Collectors Are Putting Money Into Some Baskets

Back in the 1970s there were bushels of 19th and early 20th century baskets at give-away prices. It was a time when the words "Nantucket" and "Amish" baskets didn't ring a bell for dealers and collectors busy tracking down the same antiques and collectibles everybody else was.Today, if you can find them, a Nantucket basket can cost upwards of $12,000. Anything Amish, especially baskets, can find a buyer for hundreds of dollars.

Baskets were discovered in the 1980s, and by the early 1990s were the new "hot" collectibles.

Then came the imports that filtered down and were sold as "old."

There are still old baskets awaiting discovery. You just have to know what to look for.

Red-painted, woven and handled, small buttocks basket is American-made from Virginia during the first half of the 19th century. Photo: Sotheby's auctions.

CLUES: There are many types of baskets, made of a wide variety of woods by American settlers and immigrants. Native American baskets, are an entirely different collecting category. Begin your search by stopping at a wood craft shop for a sampler of different types of woods. Recognize the graining and the color (when not stained).

This can help to know the part of the country the baskets have come from. Another clue, late 18th to late 19th century baskets usually had hand-forged nails or square head, machine cut.

Copper nails, being more expensive, were rarely used on such utilitarian objects. Baskets were also made of plant fibers and pine needles in certain sections of the country, such as the south.

Early Pennsylvania Germans used willow in wicker-work form, as well as coiled baskets from a variety of straws.

Collectors can be confused by the resemblance of Chinese, 19th century, rice-straw baskets to the Pennsylvania German floral, decorated pieces. They are lighter in weight than the American versions.

The revival of interest in collecting old baskets in the 1970s, also brought about regional interest in the craft itself. While today many experiment with new colors and forms, others recreate old types. This of course can be a problem. Among the types are Shaker, Indian, and Ozark.

Because so many ethnic backgrounds are represented in the Midwest and with its farmlands, it is considered one of the best places to come across old baskets. Baskets for picking fruit and vegetables can be in many shapes and materials. Since they are usually handed down or forgotten in farm families, country auctions and sales can still yield treasures. Old splint-form, rib-type wickerwork and coiled rye-straw are possibilities.

In good condition, baskets of colors are highly prized. Often the original material is enhanced by purposely exposing it to the elements. Combinations of different parts of the tree of varying shades form patterns. Other times the color comes from dyes made from roots, leaves, berries, and flowers. There are also 19th century baskets that were colored with the popular paints of the period. Learn to know a basket's original purpose by it's name an form. An egg basket usually is a rib-type, round splint with a handle. A rarity would be one with long, flattened sides that was made to carry eggs by horseback.

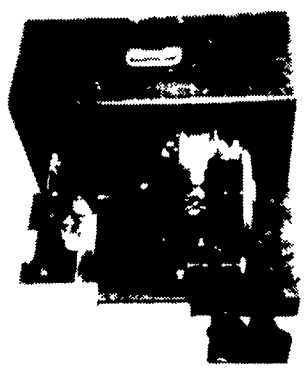
Antiques Questions And Answers

This was my mother's Western Electric Sewing Machine, c.1920s. It is in good working condition and has attachments. Does it have any value?

F.K. - Wilmette, IL

Collectors look for pre-1920s sewing machines and prices can be hundreds of dollars. Many like yours are available. A shop price could be $150-200.



I would like to find out more about this player piano that belonged to my late grandmother. The only name listed on it is "Pianola". It also has many rolls of music. It works and has an engraved serial number on the back.

T.H. - Brooksville, FL

"Pianola" was made by the Aeolian piano company and the several companies under it's direction in the 1920s, 30s, when yours was made. Any piano dealer can give the date by that serial number. In a piano shop it could sell for several thousand dollars.

Smoketown Quality Dairy Sales, Smoketown, PA.

Friday April 11, 2003 - 7:30 P.M. D.S.T.

They have been dairying for over 40 years.
Their herd consists of 52 cows - 18 bred and open heifers.
All purebred or A.I. sired cattle. Cows are currently averaging 79 lbs of milk in the tank, with a 4.46 butterfat and 3.53 protein. S.C.C. 180,000.
There are 60 Holsteins and 10 Jerseys and 1 Guernsey.

Some sires of herd are Storm, Sky Chief, Lieutenant, Harmony, Park, Counselor, James, Hero, Stoneham, Gibson, Charles, Starbuck, Bandit, Juror, Igniter, Astre and many others. There are at least 5 Storm dtrs. Some Jersey sires include Perimeter, General, Hilton, Saturn, Harmony, Hallmark and others.

Service sires used on herd are Fusion, Down Under, Robens, Julian, Igniter, Pippen, Inquirer, Allen, Morty, Comestar, Lheros, Convincer and many other popular sires. 21 - 2 year olds, 18 - 3 year olds, 6 - 4 year olds, 3 - 5 year olds, balance other. This herd of cows are a real fancy set of tall fancy cows with good udders, feet and legs. Several of these cows need to see a classifier.

Here are a small sample of the cows coming to Smoketown.
Fresh 2 yr. old Astre Dtr. (Real Sharp)
Reg. Shoremar Millan, due in June to Roycan Joldor
Reg. Storm Dtr. Fancy - Just fresh
Reg. Bandit, due April to Lheros - (sharp)
Reg. Storm - Just fresh

Company Honors 81 Truck Drivers At Driver Safety Awards Banquet

BLUE BALL (Lancaster Co.) — Martin Limestone, Inc., Blue Ball, honored 81 truck drivers at the company's twenty-eighth annual driver safety awards banquet, Feb. 20, for operating one or more consecutive years without a chargeable accident.

Drivers from all Divisions of Martin Limestone, Inc., including New Holland Concrete in New Holland and in Denver, Burkholder Paving in Ephrata, Valley Forge Stone in Honey Brook, and Martin Limestone in Blue Ball drove over 3.41 million miles during 2002 delivering crushed stone, agricultural limestone, Diamond-tex, asphalt, sand, concrete block products, and ready-mix concrete throughout Eastern Pennsylvania and surrounding states.

Forty-one drivers received recognition for completing five or more consecutive years without a chargeable accident. One driver, Lloyd W. Fox from New Holland Concrete, was recognized for 29 consecutive years of safe driving.

Allan A. Sheaffer from Martin Limestone, earned an award for 27 years.

Henry W. Horst from New Holland Concrete, and James E. Smoker from Martin Limestone received recognition for 25 years.

Donald Landis from Burkholder Paving was recognized for twenty-one years.

Marvin Z. Martin and Floyd L. Stoltzfus from New Holland Concrete, Robert R. Snader, and Martin L. Zimmerman from Martin Limestone earned 18-year awards. A 16-year award was earned by George Galbraith from New Holland Concrete.

Randy Weaver from Valley Forge Stone earned a fourteen-year award.

Ned Martin from Burkholder Paving earned a thirteen-year award.

A twelve-year award was presented to Ray Daub of New Holland Concrete.

Nevin Zimmerman from New Holland Concrete and Delmas Martin from Martin Limestone received ten-year awards.

Nine-year awards were earned by Kevin Smith and Allen Stoltzfoos from Burkholder Paving and V. Steven Kauffman from New Holland Concrete.

Richard Kachel and Raymond Englerth from Burkholder Paving, and Donald Zimmerman from Martin Limestone, and Gerald Stoltzfus from New Holland Concrete received 8-year awards.

Brian Daily, Terry Styer, Randy Culley, Jimmie Hartranft, Ray Ravegum, and Troy Young from New Holland Concrete received 7-year awards. Seven-year awards were also earned by Barry Bomgardner from Burkholder Paving, Greg Lutz, Russ Schlouch, Dave Rabold, and Don Rabold from Martin Limestone.

Todd Harnish from Valley Forge Stone, Randy Sauder, and Wes Sensenig from Martin Limestone, and Lester Cramer from Burkholder Paving earned 6-year awards.

William L. Martin and Jeremy Hoover, from Martin Limestone, and Paul Moniz, and Eugene Kulp from New Holland Concrete each received 5-year awards.

Spreader Added To Fleet

NEWVILLE (Cumberland Co.) — Little Enterprises has announced they have added a 4-axle (three that steer), 9,500-gallon Houle spreader to their fleet of six trucks and four high-flotation units.

They also have added an 8-inch Houle pump to allow faster loading, saving money.

The Houle tanker and tractor have the same weight per square inch as a person walking across your field.

This equipment is so efficient that we believe we can beat any other custom haulers price, according to the company. To prove this, the company is willing to quote your job on a per-gallon basis.

New PathFind'r Shank Offers Advantages On Contours And In Rocky Soils

HUTCHINSON, KS — Krause Corporation announces the introduction of the Path-Find'r™ Shank for deep tillage application on the Krause 4830 Series In-Line Ripper.

The new PathFind'r™ Shank features an exclusive pivoting design that allows the shank to deflect up to 6 degrees each side of center for a total of 12 degrees of movement.

Unique Customer Advantages:

- Makes deep ripping possible on contours or terraces.
- Deflects impacts for improved performance in rocky soils.
- Easier, smoother steering under full power with tracked tractors.
- Reduces stress on implement frame and three-point tractor hitch.

The PathFind'r™ Shank is a spring reset design and accepts all Krause In-Line Ripper points and attachments. The Krause 4830 Series In-Line Ripper is available in 4-shank rigid to 9-shank folding models.

Growmark FS Becomes Dealer Of Schillinger Seed

MILFORD, Del. — An agreement was reached between Growmark FS, Inc. and Schillinger Seed that gives Growmark FS exclusive marketing and distribution rights for Schillinger Seed in Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, and Virginia.

"This agreement allows us to bring soybean varieties specifically bred for the eastern United States to the market. They carry with them the trust and knowledge of two great soybean breeders: John Schillinger and Billy Rhodes," said Denis Shaffer, marketing manager for Growmark FS. "We are extremely excited to have the opportunity to work with Schillinger Seed and to bring their products to farmers in the Northeast."

John Schillinger said, "Schillinger Seed is very pleased to join forces with the Growmark FS seed distribution network. We believe that together we will bring Mid-Atlantic and New York farmers a winning alternative for their seed needs.

Limited amounts of Schillinger Seed are available for this spring's planting. The available maturities range from late-group three to mid-group four. For information on these products, contact your local Growmark FS location.

CLUTCHES/GEAR REDUCTION ASSEMBLIES

Our Specialty
We stock them, stock the parts, pinions, gears, bearings, seals & gaskets, splined out puts, shafts, housing adaptors/reducers, and pilot bearing holders With little or no changes, these new clutch/gear reduction assemblies could fit your gas or diesel engine - 50-100hp Five different gear ratios. A valuable link between your engine and power take-off shaft equipment.

CLUTCH / 5.8:1 Planetary Gear Reduction Assemblies

For 8-30 HP Engines
Fits most — Honda, Robin, Kohler, Kawasaki, others (1–2 cyl.)

- Fits most standard crankshafts - 1", 1⅛", 1⅜"
- Aluminum Castings/Housings
- Ball & roller bearings, hardened gears

INJECTORS

Have you serviced yours?

Bad Injectors Cause:

- Excessive Fuel Consumption
- Poor Starting
- Loss Of Power
- Misfiring
- Black Smoke
- Overheating

So service them regularly!

As always, injectors are checked free of charge

The fastest 10-foot cut

Choose the New Holland 1411 Discbine® disc mower-conditioner to speed you through your day's work.

- Eight discs make a 10'4" cut through thick, tangled, wet crops–fast.
- Disc modules are sealed in their own oil and connected by independent drive shafts for easy maintenance or repair.
- Chevron-design intermeshing rolls deliver proven plug-free conditioning

WATER

Manage This Valuable Resource

The Case-DMI Ecolo-Til 2500 Breaks through the hardpan, unlike conventional tillage tools.

AND

Increases water absorption and air exchange for better nutrient flow up and down the soil profile and root system.

AND

Warms up the soil in the spring for earlier planting.

AND

Delivers more uniform crop germination.

AND

Will put more money in your pocket by getting more bushels out of your field.

Are You Managing Your Moisture For Maximum Productivity?

Hoober has Case-DMI Ecolo-Til 2500 Units from 3 to 9 Shanks in Stock and Ready for Spring Tillage

DMI Will Make a Difference in Your Field. Call a Hoober Salesman Today to Find Out How!

Hoober Also Has (2) 6-Row Strip Tillage Machines Available

The DMI Strip Tillage Concept

Case IH has modified the DMI Ecolo-Til 2500 to

- Till a strip
- Break up the hardpan
- Gather the soil over the seed slot
- Firm the soil in an 8" band

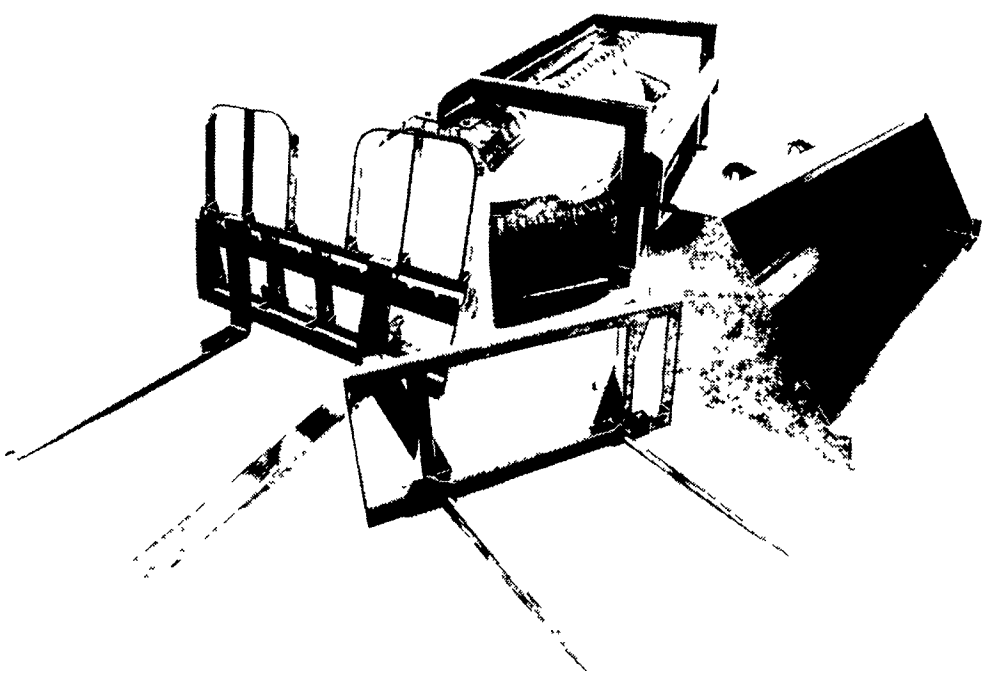
HORST LOADER ATTACHMENTS

Having only a bucket is like having only one drill bit.



A good loader like a good power tool is only the start. The versatility of your loader depends on your attachments. Horst Loader Attachments are built to finish the job again and again. Trust HLA to help you get the most from your loader, because powerful tools need powerful attachments. All attachments available for loaders, skid steers, and telehandlers.

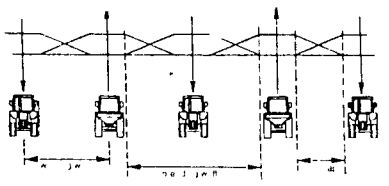
GREENLAND

SUPERFLOW FERTILIZER SPREADERS

Vicon SUPERFLOW SEEDER

Spreaders are the most accurate broadcast spreaders in the world. The unique pendulum action keeps the spread pattern close to the rear of the machine while at the same time providing a symmetrical pattern on both sides.



The pattern allows "back and forth" as well as "around and around" operation. The "truncated" pattern offsets inaccurate overlap problems, eliminating streaking.

Rust free polyester hoppers, 'DURA-COAT" enamel on painted components with stainless steel metering plates, precision adjustments, and a variety of spouts for a multitude of applications have earned Vicon Superflow seeder spreaders a world-wide reputation as the premier broadcast spreader

Vicon

Seeder spreaders are easily calibrated for extremely accurate performance.

Versatile Vicon spreaders band material in vineyards, orchards and nurseries, as well as spread lime, and salt and sand for winter use.

That's Why They Call It A Joystick.

CVT...Continuously Variable Transmission. We call it "Vario" for short. You'll just call it smart, smooth and simple to use. Not to mention efficient, effective and, yes, even enjoyable.

The Vario maximizes the legendary FENDT performance, and is available on all FENDT 400, 700 and 900 Series models. Tests have shown Vario can increase power output up to 20%, and increase working efficiency up to 10%, all the while cutting fuel consumption by up to 10%.

Vario lets the tractor put all its power to work...effortlessly. So all you have to do is sit back, control the joystick, and enjoy the ride. (Which, by the way, is easy to do...but that's another story.)

Rolabar® rakes better by far –

Don't settle for second best when it comes to rakes. Choose the original – a dependable New Holland Rolabar® rake. The rake more farmers buy over all other brands combined. Why? Because its rugged construction makes it one hard-working, hay-grabbing machine.

See the original Rolabar rake today.

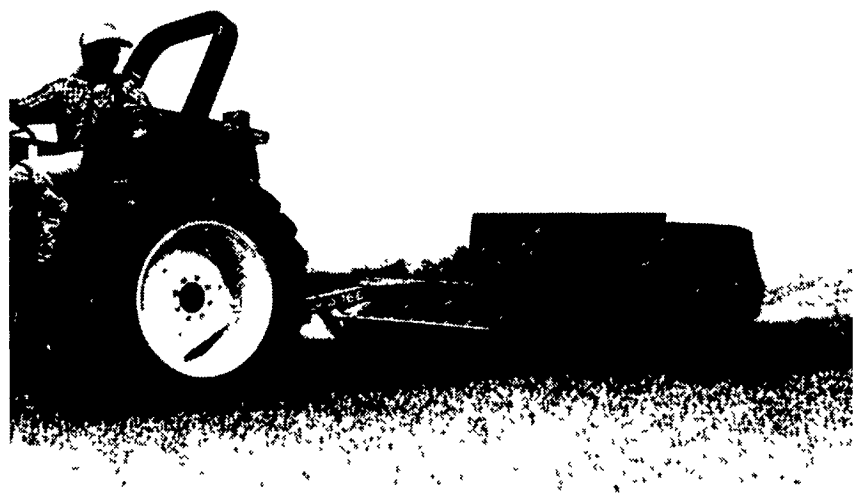
NEW HOLLAND

Fluffed up... never roughed up

If a storm hits while you're making hay, you'll need the New Holland Model 166 windrow inverter. It helps to dry hay fast, so you can bale or chop sooner. The 166 gently lifts, fluffs and turns windrows without roughing up the hay. So, you move your windrows onto dry ground for faster drying and retain valuable leaves.

For hay that's fluffed up not roughed up, check out the 166 today.

NEW HOLLAND



Why wait for the sun

Speed up drying time with a New Holland tedder. It lifts downed crop up so air flows through it. Choose from three tedders – 8'6" Model 157, 16'5" Model 163, or 22'8" Model 169.

Stop in. We'd like to show you how our tedders can help you put up quality hay.

STRONG — HEAVY DUTY

www.conestogabuildings.com

Custom Built Pole Buildings

Heaviest Snow Load in Pole Buildings!

Some companies state "40 # per square foot snow load" - but really they are stating they have a 30 pound live/snow load on the top chord, plus a 5 pound dead load (required) on the top chord and a 5 pound dead load on the bottom chord and then add them all up to equal "40".

CONESTOGA uses the heaviest duty trusses available - a true 35 pound live or snow load on the top chord and a 5 pound dead load on the top chord and a 5 pound dead load on the bottom chord - so in their terms, CONESTOGA has a "45 pound" truss load!

Having Problems Getting Milk Cold?

Consider a Mueller pre-cooler. It's an excellent way to lower the cost of cooling milk. It reduces milk temperature with water pumped straight out of your well. Mueller® precoolers are available in sizes to work with any system. If lower electric bills would make your life easier, call us and ask for more information on Mueller precoolers.

BEEF TIPS
Parasites are lumped into two general categories 1) external, such as lice, ticks and grubs which can be controlled by insecticides as a spray, dip or pour-on, and 2) internal since the need of deworming varies between regions, breeders should check with their veterinarian for the need and advice on the appropriate product to be used

Imported from Holland, ORLANDO is a black 17 1 Hand Dutch Harness Horse Stallion

The Dutch Harness Horse is a wonderful horse to cross with existing breeds of horses used for driving and work. Dutch Harness Horses have been bred in Holland for over 80 years The sole purpose is to increase trot and stride, thus producing driving horses that move more efficiently and cover more ground with less effort.

Exciting opportunities exist for the serious breeder looking to be involved with the induction and infusion of these great horses into today's breeding programs.

ORLANDO is standing at Mogadore, Ohio for the 2003 breeding season, shipped semen is available. The 2003 introductory stud fee is $1000.00 and includes a live foal guarantee.

For breeding information and available bloodstock in Holland, NL contact:

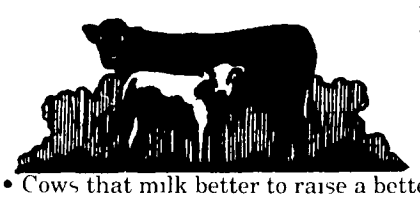
- Reduces labor to save you money and give you more time to make important management decisions
- Supplies much-needed vitamins and minerals that forage lacks to help your cattle perform to their genetic potential
- Supplies fat in most formulations to enhance energy intake

For Dairy

- Replacement heifers that grow out soundly and economically
- Body condition on dry cows so they can return to lactation, producing at the maximum potential
- Healthier herds, with essential trace minerals that help prevent metritis, retained placenta and other health problems
- Prompt re-breeding, thanks to essential nutrients

For Beef



- Stronger, healthier calves at birth
- Heavier Calves at weaning
- Cows that cycle better for improved conception rates
- Cows that milk better to raise a better calf

- AVAILABLE IN 200 LB. SIZE -

Long-Term Lease on Trophy Whitetail Operation

Bakersville, PA

Have you always wanted to operate your very own trophy whitetail ranch? Well, here's your chance to manage a long-term hunting lease. The Highlands has gained a world-class reputation for producing some of the biggest trophy whitetail bucks in the country. Over five miles of game-proof fence (ten-feet high) surround the perimeter of this 800-acre ranch that is conveniently located in the Laurel Mountains of Somerset County, PA (about an hour southeast of Pittsburgh.)

The 4,000 square foot lodge can comfortably sleep up to 16 guests and includes four full baths and two half-baths, a commercial kitchen and large great room with massive fireplace. Also included is a 2-bedroom A-frame cottage and numerous out-buildings and fishing ponds. The ranch adjoins the Hidden Valley ski and golf resort and can serve as a perfect family or corporate retreat in addition to trophy whitetail hunting.

If you want to continue to operate the deer hunting business commercially we will give you a ready-made list of hundreds of our customers and thousands of prospects that we have compiled over the past seven seasons. Or, you can just keep the ranch for yourself, your family and friends as a private, year-around retreat. A long-term lease will ensure your enjoyment for years to come. Offered at $395,000. FOR SALE BY OWNER
ONCE IN A LIFETIME OPPORTUNITY
1950's STYLE CAFE AND GARAGE

Unique cafe, garage, and home all in one Cafe and garage is a newly constructed 3200 sq ft. building built in 2001. The building is designed in the 50's style. Garage has a car lift and a wash/recon bay Cafe has indoor seating for 41 and outside area for picnic tables. Cafe offers a full service menu with takeouts.

Included is a 2 story, 4 bedroom home and a recently renovated barn House has a new well, roof, septic system and electric service. The property is fenced with a new hi-tensil, electric fence.

This established turnkey operation is located on 8 1/2 acres with over 1000 feet of creek frontage in a peaceful setting in beautiful Juniata County, Pa The business would be ideal as a family operation This is a great opportunity to live where you work. Alternately, the business could be operated and the house rented out for income. Has a lot of potential for growth such as a bed and breakfast and/or a campground by the creek. If you ever dreamed of owning your own business, don't miss this opportunity.

Owner is relocating. Will sacrifice all for $410,000. Phone 717-463-9900 Tues. thru Sun. 8am to 8pm for an appointment to see this mini-estate. Ask for Connie.
